RIOT IN DUMP OVER 3,200 STOLEN SHOES

Two hundred men, women and children rioted in the Orleans street dump, East Boston, today, when police charged upon them as they sat endeavoring to fit themselves to 1,600 pairs of stolen shoes.

They were mostly foreigners and could not comprehend why unfeeling police should interfere with the greatest bargain they had happened upon in many a moon. They were dispelled when with drawn clubs the cops threatened arrest, but not before they faded with half of the shoes. Police believe a freight car was burglarized and the shoes lift in the dump in burlap bags to be taken away later today.

Discovery that the dump had suddenly become a bargain shoe mart

'FATTY' ARBUCKLE SUED FOR DIVORCE

Charging neglect and desertion, Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle, wife of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, filed a suit for divorce in the Superior Court at Providence.

The petition was filed by Francis P. Dougherty, attorney for Mrs. Arbuckle, and alleges that the former film comedian deserted her in September, 1917, and since that time has failed to support her.

Arbuckle, once king of movie comedians, has recently been doing a monologue

MRS. STOKES LOST LOVE FIRST DAY

New York, Nov. 2 (I.N.S.)—Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, today submitted to a grilling cross-examination and refused time and again to admit that before her marriage she was in love with Edgar T. Wallace, the co-respondent.

"I was not in love with him," she asserted.

Her face was flushed with fever. Her voice was husky from an attack of grippe from which she has been suffering for two days.

The crowd in the court room listened intently as Mrs. Stokes defended her character on the witness stand and repeatedly repulsed relentless efforts of her husband's chief counsel, Max O. Steuer, to break down her testimony. Steuer, pacing up and down in front of the titian-haired witness, used every trick known to the legal trade in the duel of wits with the witness.

Mrs. Stokes appeared tired as she took the stand.

"Isn't it true," Steuer shot at her "that the very moment you married Stokes, you regretted your action?"

UNHAPPY FROM START

"Not that very day, but from the very first of my married life, I was unhappy," Mrs. Stokes countered.

Steuer jumped to the period of 1917. On February 13, of that year Mrs. Stokes left her husband when, she alleged, she received a beating. She returned to her husband on Oct. 31, 1917, however.

She testified today that she returned to Stokes after he promised that he "would change his ways."

"What ways?" Steuer demanded.

Objections were interposed and the witness was not allowed to answer.

"Where were you New Year's, 1917?" Steuer asked suddenly.

"With Mr. Stokes," she replied unhesitatingly. "I spent each New Years with my husband from the

BLUENOSE QUITS; WON'T RACE AGAIN

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 2.—Captain Angus Walters of the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose today defied the international race committee, which last night ruled that yesterday's race should go to the American challenger, Columbia, after the Bluenose had won.

He declared positively that he would not race tomorrow.

"I'm going home; the Bluenose has won, and I'll do no more racing this year," Captain Walters said. "I'm going home just as sure as the

ARE WE PUNK, MR. GALLAGHER? ASK THE SHUBERTS, MR. SHEAN

New York, Nov. 2.—Holding that the vaudeville team of Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean is practically irreplacable in their particular line of mirth vending, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court today enjoined from doing their stunt for anyone but the Shubert Theatrical Company, with whom they are under contract until next September 15 at $2,000 a week.

The decision was a reversal of the finding in the lower court, in which the Shuberts were denied an injunction upon the plea of the defendants, Edward Gallagher and Al Shean, that they were "ordinary hum comedians"; that hundreds of others could get the same laughs as they did; that they were just "general utility men."

GALLAGHER AND SHEAN

WANTED HER TO WORK TRAP

J. Warren Kane, the bald-headed man with the chubby face, who sits in "Shaker's Row" in Superior Court with his alleged brothers and sister members of the Blackmail Ring didn't think much of Mrs. Mary Louise Lyons, "Big Bill" Corcoran's pretty stenographer, when Bill and the boys went into the drug business.

Mrs. Lyons, testifying on the witness stand at the crowded trial today, said Mr. Kane slipped into her office in the General Drug Company one sunny afternoon and asked her if she would mind being found in a room with a man.

Mrs. Lyons—she wasn't married then—indignantly replied that she would mind.

"There won't be any danger for you," J. Warren declared, she testified. "You'll be fixed up with dough and will be all right."

Mrs. Lillian Reese, "Lilly the

WILD DAY ON COTTON MARKET; PRICES SOAR

Cotton saw one of the wildest speculative moves in the history of the New York Cotton Exchange today when the government estimate placed the 1923 crop at 10,248,000 bales. Within a few minutes after the announcement December cotton skyrocketed to 31.90 cents a pound, an advance of nearly $7.50 a bale above Wednesday's closing. All the active cotton futures made new high prices for the year. In latest trading December was up 90 points at 31.40. January up 102 points at 31c, March up 11 points at 31.11 and May up 108 points at 31.08.

"IN THE HEART OF THE CITY—IN THE SERVICE OF THE CITY"

In the Name of Youth!

"No student shall be refused admission to, or denied any of the privileges, honors or degrees of said University on account of the religious opinions which he may entertain."
(From the Charter of Boston University)

Boston University is assisting to an education, and consequently to a more useful citizenship, more than 11,000 young men and women each year. An equal number of her students are graduated, many of them distinguished citizens, rendering service of conspicuous merit. With credit to her founders, the University is filling a vital and unique position in the field of education.

In ten years the enrollment has increased 567%. A prodigious growth! Her doors are open to those who are unable to devote years to customary study. College courses may be pursued in evening hours. Without regard for creed or color, the University is verily "In the heart of the city—in the service of the city."

Since 1913 the budget has increased from $150,000 to $1,500,000; endowment, from $2,367,820 to only $3,702,182. The deficit is evident.

That her efforts may be still more effective, Boston University now seeks the support of the general public she has consistently served for fifty years. I am confident the public will embrace this opportunity to respond.

sun is going to rise in the East tomorrow."

Two hours later the skipper made good his threat and sailed the Bluenose out of the harbor bound for Lunenberg.

The international committee ruled that the Bluenose had forfeited yesterday's race, which it had won by a margin of two and three-quarters minutes, by sailing to the landward instead of seaward of a shallow water buoy. The ruling had been promulgated at the conclusion of the first race, when Captain Ben Pine of the Columbia protested he had been fouled by the Bluenose, when the Canadian crowded.

Captain Walters' deft recalls the similar declaration last year by Captain Clayton Morrisey of the Gloucester schooner Henry Ford, 1922 challenger, who expressed the same sentiments under similar circumstances, to later recant.

200 FIGHT OVER STOLEN SHOES

was made by James Gayhart of 3 Gould Court, East Boston, on his way to work. James' hat went right up of his head as he glanced over at the usually barren dump to see it infested with a gibbering mass who discarded old shoes in frantic haste as they fought to fit themselves to new ones.

A toothless hag boxed the ears of a couple of kids and snatched away French-heeled slipers. With great anguish she fitted them to feet 3 sizes too large and hobbled by James with a couple of pair of healthy looking brogans beneath her cape for her "old man."

James hustled for a telephone. He notified two special officer friends who in turn called the East Boston police. A riot squadron sped to the dump in auto, patrol and charged the mob.

HIT WITH RUBBER BOOT.

But abooing the shoe hungry victors was another thing. "What's a few clouts on the bean with a year's supply of new shoes in sight?

Somebody crowned a big cop with a rubber boot and that ended the shoe fittips. The cops charged and ten minutes later the last struggling free trader was out of the dumps and on his way.

A surprised, hurt and indignant mass of Europeans they filed their way homeward, shoe laced, shoe decked, some walking with the rythmic squeak of new leather, others in socked feet worse off than when they entered the dump, their old shoes being left behind.

Strange people these American cops was their united thought. All the time we go to the dump for a lot of bum pickings and they leave us alone. Today we knock off a good haul and we get the gate. Ver' strange.

What are left of the shoes—about 300 paire rest in bags in the East Boston station. And many a fat cop with six kids glances longingly at them as he contemplates the long Winter ahead.

FIRST HUSBAND ACCUSES PRINCESS IN BATH TUB CASE

CALLS HER MARRIAGE TO PRINCE ILLEGAL

Royal Mate Will Seek to Annul Wedding as Sequel to $100,000 Love Suit

New York, Nov. 2.—Never anything more amazing than Manhattan's bath-tub drama, wherein figure two sisters, a prince, a chauffeur and now a son who died a hero and was buried in the national cemetery at Arlington, Virginia.

Prince Nicholas von der Lippe-Lipksy, once in the court of the Russian Czar, was found by detectives in the bath of his wife's sister's apartment at No. 410 West One Hundred and Tenth street.

The sister is Mrs. Gertrude Schroeder.

The Prince's wife was formerly a Boston beauty.

Mrs. Schroeder lately inherited a fortune.

A slice of that the Princess opined would not go to waste, so she entered suit against her own sister for $100,000 for alienation of affections of the Prince.

FIRST HUSBAND APPEARS.

Today came the startling revelation that the Princess has a first husband still alive. He is Charles E. Phillips, a soldier of fortune, but at present chauffeuring for a living.

The Princess said when she married her distinguished, black-eyed Prince that Charley had died in the Philippines.

Charley, a husky gentleman, bolled that today when he dropped in on friend wife and her Prince Charming.

"I not only failed to die in the Philippines," said Phillips, "but if this action reaches court I will prove that my wife knew I was alive when she married the Prince. She was in communication with my family in Massachusetts."

And not only was the Princess aware of a living husband when she married Prince Nicky but she had a son living and carving a brilliant career for himself as an aviator.

That was last May.

SEPARATED 15 YEARS.

The following month there wandered into Washington Phillips, the husband and father. He had been separated from his wife for fifteen years but had followed with pride the career of his son Wendell K. Phillips, lieutenant in the Army flying corps.

Phillips wanted to see the son. He had read of his feats, even had a newspaper photograph of him in his pocket. He passed a newspaper bulletin board, came back and stopped. Mounted beneath a red lettered announcement was his boy's picture. He had been killed in an accident at a flying field.

Three days later, in Arlington Cemetery, Phillips stood on one side of an open grave. On the other stood the woman who is now Princess Nicky. Their son's body to its flag-draped coffin was lowered into the grave. But neither husband or wife with this common bereavement looked at each other or spoke.

PRINCE TO SUE WIFE

Suit for annulment of his marriage to the former Mrs. Wendell Phillips will soon be started by the prince, the latter announced today.

The prince will charge fraud and deception, alleging that Mrs. Phillips had told him her husband had died.

Emerging from obscurity, Phillips complicated further the marital troubles of the pair which began when the princess began suit against her sister. The princess charges alienation of her husband's affections.

Mrs. Schroeder and the prince deny the charges and will fight the suit.

Allegations that is wife swore falsely last May when they obtained their marriage license will form the basis for the prince's suit for annulment, he announced. He charged that his wife stated on her application that it was to be her second marriage and that her first husband was dead.

He also denied that a civil ceremony had been performed in September, 1922, as announced by Princess Elaine, and said that the church service last May was the first marriage ceremony between them.

The prince says his wife insisted Lieutenant Phillips, the dead aviator, was her sister's son, but had been adopted by her when she married Phillips.

Mrs. Schroeder intends to prove that the scene was staged for the purpose of forcing her to give up a large part of a fortune inherited from the late Mr. Schroeder.

Among counter-charges preferred by Mrs. Schroeder against her sister is one that her two male companions on the raid possessed themselves on important papers of the Schroeder estate, which papers are still missing.

Still more complication was introduced in the person of Eugene Van Sickle, said to be a Canadian clubman, who, according to Mrs. Schroeder's attorneys, is now on bond on a charge of illegally entering the United States. It appears that Van Sickle was one of the "detectives" who raided the Schroeder apartment with the princess, who, it is said, took away her husband's pants, and other articles of his wearing apparel she found there.

PRINCE AND PRINCESS LIPPE-LIPSKI AND ADOPTED CHILD

Blissful scenes like this have fled the household of the former Boston woman, now involved in a tangle of an alienation suit against her own sister, the claim of Charles Lee Phillips, a chauffeur, that he is the husband she claimed was dead, and the threatened suit of the prince to annul their marriage of last summer. The child in her lap, which she adopted, is Countess Irene de Maniezan, granddaughter of the late Czar of Russia. The photo was taken shortly before her second marriage.

PLANES TO RULE SEAS, SAYS ACE

New York, Nov. 2.—The most proud queens of the seas will be obsolete in seven to ten years, and transoceanic passengers a decade hence will travel almost exclusively by air, Eddie V. Rickenbacker, American ace, declared today as he returned on the Majestic from a tour of battle zones where he won his honors.

"In 20 years the United States will dominate the commerce of the air," he predicted, commenting on the recent purchase of the Frederickshaven Zeppelin Works by the Goodyear interests, who will move the plant and personnel to Akron, Ohio.

Rickenbacker said small, cheap airplanes will soon be as commonly used as automobiles today.

FIGHTS TO STOP FRIEND'S ARREST

Here's a man who wouldn't let an officer arrest his friend.

George Doherty of No. 49 Columbia street, Cambridge, was given six months in the House of Correction by Judge Counihan in Cambridge Court charged with assault and rescuing prisoner from Patrolman Charles Lenihan.

Lenihan was ringing for the "wagon" ready to lock up Doherty's friend. Doherty jumped on the officer and there was a wrestling match seen by many spectators. Lenihan received many bruises.

SAVANT'S WIFE DIED A SUICIDE BY GAS

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 2.—Medical Examiner M. M. Scarborough of this city today made public a statement in which he declared there was no mystery in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth P. Curtis, wife of Professor Edward E. Curtis of the History department of Wellesley College. Mrs. Curtis, he said, committed suicide by shutting herself up in her room and turning on the gas. Her suicide was the result of despondency, due to ill health. She was stopping with Professor Curtis' mother, Mrs. E. L. Curtis, at No. 91 Linden street.

ACCUSES FALL IN OIL SCANDAL

Naval Man Says Ex-Secretary Wanted Officers in Capital Transferred

Washington, Nov. 2.—Former Secretary Fall demanded the transfer from Washington of naval officers who objected to leases he proposed to make on naval oil reserves, Commander H. A. Stuart of the Navy testified today before the Senate Public Lands Committee, investigating the subject.

Commander Stuart, who testified he had been in charge of the Naval Reserves in the Navy Department from 1898 until April 5, 1922, said Secretary Fall had insisted that Secretary Denby should detach him and Commander Shafroth and send them out of Washington.

Commander Shafroth also was connected with the Reserve Section.

The witness said the demand was made after the two officers had presented to Mr. Fall their objection to the granting of certain leases which he proposed to make to the United Midway Company to open wells on Naval Reserve No. 1 in California.

During the period the Navy Department had complete control over the Reserves nothing had developed, Commander Stuart asserted, which made it desirable in his judgment to transfer their administration to the Interior Department.

The Navy, he said, in handling the Reserves, had received all necessary assistance from the Geological Survey and the Bureau of Mines, and was fully competent to administer them.

GERMANY'S PRINCE TO RETURN

Berlin Announces Permission Given for Frederick Wilhelm's "Comeback"

Berlin, Nov. 2 (Copyright, 1923, by I.N.S.).—The German government, in a statement today, officially admitted for the first time that Berlin has granted formal permission to the former Crown Prince to return to his native land.

Ex-Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm has been an exile on the Dutch Island of Wieringen since November, 1918, when he and his father, the former Kaiser, fled across the German border into Holland.

"It is true that the government has granted the former Crown Prince permission to return, but if he has already returned he has violated the agreement because the date of his return is not yet agreed upon," said the statement.

Stories that Wilhelm already has returned are branded as a "trick with a view to forcing to final completion the negotiations now under way."

Up to the time this dispatch was written not a single government authority had received confirmation of the report that Wilhelm has returned to his estates at Oels, in Silesia, rejoining his family.

A dispatch from Oels to the Berlin Bureau of the International News Service said that the Crown Prince is not there.

Permission for the return of the former heir to the throne was granted after the cabinet had discussed the matter at length. The Socialist ministers assented to the decision.

The communication sent to him, appraising him of the government's decision was written in such general terms that it is impossible he will took it for permission to return to Germany at once.

Typist Told She Is Too Slow Tries To End Life

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Max Baum told Elsi Homueller, his pretty 27-year-old stenographer that she was too slow and he'd have to get someone else.

Elsi sat down at her typewriter and wrote a long letter to her mother. It was her last typing stunt.

Then she searched the drawers in the office and found a revolver.

She is not expected to live.

COOLIDGE WILL ATTEND BURIAL OF HERO DILBOY

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Coolidge, Secretary of War Weeks and other military dignitaries of the nation, will attend the funeral of George Dilboy, Congressional Medal of Honor hero, according to the plans being made here today.

Because of the award of the medal of honor, Dilboy will be given a burial with as much ceremony as any general of the army.

Tentative plans provide for bringing the body from Brooklyn to Washington on a naval destroyer arriving here Monday. It will be placed in the receiving vault at Arlington or lie in state either in Continental Hall, national headquarters of the Daughters of the American Revolution, or in Memorial Hall, national headquarters of the Red Cross.

On November 12, at 1 o'clock, church services will be conducted in Continental or Memorial Hall by the Greek Orthodox Church. The body will be taken to Arlington for burial.

A military guard of honor will meet the body at the Fort Myers gate and bear it to the grave on a caisson. Officers of Dilboy Post,

Sues Arbuckle

MRS. MINTA D. ARBUCKLE.

YEAR AND DAY FOR STEALING $100,000

New York, Nov. 2.—A sentence of one year and one day was imposed upon George Mahnken, formerly a clerk in the Irving National Bank, who pleaded guilty to stealing $100,000 worth of Liberty four bonds from the bank.

Judge Winslow of the Federal District Court, who sentenced Mahnken, admitted him to bail until Monday so that he could settle his affairs. He has been on bail and driving a taxi since his arrest.

ARBUCKLE SUED FOR DIVORCE IN PROVIDENCE

in vaudeville. "Patty" appeared in Providence at the time suit was filed, and accepted personal service at the Providence-Biltmore Hotel.

Mrs. Arbuckle gave her residence as Providence, and declared she had lived there since 1918. Because of "Patty's" failure to support her, she says she has been forced to engage in movie picture work, and has appeared in several pictures for the Truart Film Company of Providence.

The papers state the Arbuckles were married at Long Beach, Calif., on August 5, 1908, when "Patty" was an "extra" with the Mack Sennett Company.

Mrs. Arbuckle declares "Patty" deserted her in 1917 at the height of his career and since that time she has had nothing in common with him.

Following the death of Virginia Rappe at a party given by Arbuckle in St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, on Labor Day, 1921, Mrs. Arbuckle went to his aid when he was placed on trial for murder. She declares, however, the episode of the St. Francis Hotel has no connection with the marital disagreement.

While in Boston Arbuckle signed a lucrative contract to act as a director for a leading film company in California.

SLEEPING SICKNESS F..TAL IN 3 DAYS

Kenneth Torrey, thirty-five years old, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Bates Torrey, No. 104 Main street, South Weymouth, following a three-day attack of sleeping sickness.

Torrey was a concert violinist and has appeared throughout the United States and Canada on the concert platform. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Guilhall, Vt., Nov. 2.—The trial of Edgar Bunnell for the murder of Job Cross, wealthy Canaan farmer, was adjourned today until next Tuesday on account of the illness of a juryman's mother.

6 BOYS SPANKED IN PUBLIC FOR PRANK ON HALLOWE'EN

Lodi, N. J., Nov. 2.—Six boys, each under sixteen, were spanked in public today in the court house here. They stole radiator caps from automobiles while celebrating Hallowe'en.

The public spanking was the penalty laid down by the law as personified by Recorder Richard H. Scheller.

This was the first public spanking in New Jersey, although private functions of this nature are not altogether unknown.

The boys are permitted to choose their own spankers, but they must choose between their parents and the judge.

CABOT ATTACKS QUINN'S STREET PAVING BILLS

Godfrey L. Cabot, candidate for Mayor of Cambridge, continued his attack on Mayor Quinn's administration at Cambridge City Hall before a crowd that jammed the council room to capacity and overflowed into the corridors. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Cambridge League of Women Voters.

Mr. Cabot fired a new volley by charging that paving specifications calling for "Warren Bitulithic" asphalt have given Warren Brothers a monopoly on Cambridge paving contracts during Mayor Quinn's administration. This monopoly, said Mr. Cabot, has cost the tax payers of Cambridge at the rate of one dollar a yard.

CHARGES MONOPOLY.

"In two years," said Mr. Cabot, "bills for asphalt paving have totaled $152,000, part of which, however, has been for repairs. The specifications in use for asphalt paving during Mayor Quinn's administration have used a trade name belonging to Warren Brothers, which has resulted in a monopoly for this concern. The approximate loss to the tax payers has been $1 a square yard."

Mr. Cabot said that when Mayor Quinn was superintendent of streets the city paid $2.29 a yard for wooden block paving for which the city, under Mayor Rockwood, two years later, paid $1.61 a yard, at a time when the price of wood was considerably higher.

Mr. Cabot charged that Cambridge is being overrun with narcotic peddlers who had been chased out of Boston and that respect for law has become so lax that "a few feet from the City Hall a banner is now stretched across the street advertising a lottery."

OVATION FOR QUINN.

Mayor Quinn followed Mr. Cabot and received an ovation when he entered the hall. The Mayor called attention to the free dental clinic he had instituted for children, the inauguration of the two platoon system for the fire department, the motorization of the fire department, pay increases for the fire and police departments and held up his administration as being fair, fearless and economical.

"I have striven honestly to serve all the people of the city, regardless of race, color or creed," said Mayor Quinn. "I have tried to distribute my appointments so that all would be represented, so that we might have one happy family."

TRAIN SCHEDULES ON B. & A. ARE CHANGED

The 4:15 p. m. train from Springfield to Boston will leave Worcester at 6.20 p. m. commencing Monday and will be five minutes later than the present schedule between Worcester and Framingham, where it will replace the 7.03 p. m. local and make additional stops at Natick Wellesley Hills, Wellesley Farms and Riverside, arriving at the South Station at 7.48 p. m.

Restoration of the old 7.32 p. m. Highland Branch train from Riverside to the South Station was also announced.

LIGHT COMPANIES TO REDUCE PAR VALUES

The Department of Public Utilities today issued decisions approving a change from $100 to $125 per share in the par value of the Malden Electric Company, the Malden and Melrose Gas Light Company, the Suburban Gas and Electric Company and the Eastern Massachusetts Electric Company. In each case the department specifies that the aggregate par value of the outstanding shares of the capital stock shall not be increased by the change in the par value thereof.

'BABE' RUTH DEFAULTED IN SUIT ON $2,000 NOTE

Babe Ruth.

George H. "Babe" Ruth, home-run king of the New York Yankees, has been sued for $2,000 on a note by Isadore Gronstein, Boston attorney.

In Superior Court today Judge Hammond entered a default when Ruth failed to appear in answer to summons. A Middlesex county deputy sheriff made a return of service at Ruth's last-known place of abode in South Sudbury.

The "Bambino" is touring the country with Mrs. Ruth and friends and probably knows nothing of the action. Ruth gave the note to the Gorton Realty Trust in a transaction involving purchase of property.

Steubenville, O.—Miss Olive Irvin, 22, of Richmond, and Miss Elizabeth Bernard, 29, of Freemont, school teachers, were killed today when struck by a fast Cleveland & Pittsburg Railroad train near here.

SOMERVILLE CHURCH FIRE CAUSES DAMAGE OF $5,000

Fire in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Union Square, Somerville, today caused damage of $5,000 to the recently reconstructed edifice.

For a while the fire threatened the rectory of the church on Washington street, in the rear, and other structures in Union square.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Rev. Francis B. White, the rector, said that All Saints' Day services were held in the building last night.

SOCIALISTS MAKE GAINS IN ELECTIONS AT LONDON

London, Nov. 2.—Scarcely more than one-fourth of the returns from the municipal elections have as yet been compiled, but the results thus far made public show that labor and the Socialists have made noteworthy gains. The Liberals are the heaviest losers, while the Conservatives also have met with numerous reverses.

WALES PALLBEARER FOR LAW'S FUNERAL

London, Nov. 2.—The Prince of Wales will be a pallbearer at the funeral of former Premier Andrew Bonar Law next Monday. The others will be Premier Baldwin, Lord Balfour, former Premier Asquith, Austen Chamberlain, J. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord Fitzalan, Lord Carson, J. H. Whitley, speaker of the House of Common, and Lord Beaverbrook. Before the ceremony at Westminster Abbey, a service will be held at the Church of St. Columba in Kingsland road, where Mr. Bonar Law worshipped.

JEWS IN PROTEST ON RECEPTION TO GEN. HALLER

In an open letter addressed to Mayor Curley, The Jewish Leader, a Boston Jewish newspaper, on behalf of the Jews of this city, charged that General Josef Haller, Polish commander-in-chief, who is soon to visit this city, was a notorious anti-Semite, having been proved guilty of numerous atrocities against Jews of Poland, and as such was not fit to be received as an official guest of the City of Boston.

Gen. Haller

The letter quotes official Polish documents to prove that General Haller was guilty of perpetrating cruelties upon Jews, and says that any official recognition accorded to the general will be an affront to the Jews of Boston as well as all other decent and fair-minded citizens.

HIRAM JOHNSON SEES PLOT IN TOUR OF LLOYD GEORGE

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 2.—Hiram Johnson sees in Lloyd George's visit to this country "a bold plan" to convince the people of the United States "by cleverness and nimbleness of wit" that their moral obligation is to help Europe collect its debts from Germany the senior California Senator declared in an address here.

"I deny we will do anything of the sort," he said. "The United States, despite the blandishments of European statesmen or the mawkish appeals of any of her own, will be neither policemen nor collector abroad. America will answer the anguished cry of human suffering abroad with contributions of money and food, but the nation should stand solidly against participation in Europe's political affairs."

BRITISH PRESS LORDS SCORED BY COUNTESS

London, Nov. 2.—If the famous society beauty, the Countess of Warwick, had been the pioneer stateswoman of England, the British newspaper would have been rented over her unfortunate appearance in her campaign for a labor seat in the House of Commons. However, three women already hold seats in Parliament and thus the candidacy of the Countess has aroused hardly more interest than if she were a male politician.

Countess of Warwick.

The countess has issued a letter "to the gentlemen of the press" warning them that it is useless to interview her. She has taken this action because, she says, the Sunday newspapers treated her first utterances frivously, printing "a few slight words of piffle" while all the solid principles of her labor platform were ignored.

The countess tells the reporters that she desires to save them the trouble of coming near her, that she needs no publicity and that she is united with the labor paper, the Daily Herald, which reports faithfully the speeches of all labor candidates.

"The press of England," says her letter, "consists of a tiny group of rich men who have bought it up. Their politics are opposed to ours and my statements made by a labor candidate would be adapted to suit their views."

CHELSEA BOMB CASE IN HANDS OF JURORS

The defence scored heavily in the last moments of the trial of Dr. Louis Mansolilli, the Chelsea dentist who has been on trial in United States District Court on charges that he sent explosive bombs through the mails to Mrs. Grace Lewis of Shurtleff street, Chelsea, who rejected him as a suitor.

State Chemist Walter Wedger testified he analyzed some unburned powder from the bomb Mrs. Lewis received in the mail and which exploded in her home, and found it was not the same sort of powder which came from empty shot gun shells found in Dr. Mansolilli's home.

In his charge to the jury Judge James M. Morton instructed the members to disregard all testimony regarding the bomb made of an electric light fixture, as there had been no evidence presented to connect that bomb with Dr. Mansolilli.

This bomb was found screwed into the hall lamp of Mrs. Lewis home. Experts said if it had been properly connected it would have exploded when the light was turned on, but, instead, it merely made a short circuit which blew out a fuse near the meter.

The jury retired shortly before noon.

MOVE TO ABOLISH DEATH PENALTY

New York, Nov. 2.—Warden Lewis E. Laws of Sing Sing prison, Colonel E. Choate and other prominent prison reformers today filed an application for incorporation of the Society to Abolish Capital Punishment.

ESKIMOS WILD OVER RADIO, SAYS MacMILLAN MESSAGE

Topsham, Me., Nov. 2.—An interesting radio message from Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, was picked up by Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hamilton of this town. The message from the schooner Bowdoin came through clearly with but slight interference by static conditions. The message was: "Radio Station, WMH, from the Bowdoin—Have finished the shooting of bear for Winter skins. Have plenty of sheepskins. Are shooting some eider duck. Expect huge influx of visitors in next November moon.

Donald MacMillan

"Deny report that the Bowdoin was or has been in great danger from jamming by ice floes. All well. We are receiving messages sent us every week. The Eskimos are immensely surprised at radio and nearly went wild to hear voices from civilization. This expedition is the only one that has been so far north and able to keep in touch with civilization.

55 PRISONERS, ON STRIKE, ARE GOING BACK TO WORK

San Quentin, Cal., Nov. 2.—Fifty-five prisoners, who have been in solitary confinement in San Quentin penitentiary for nearly a month, as the result of their sympathy "strike" with J. B. Childs, convicted of criminal syndicalism, are expected to return to work in the jute mill, following Child's action in notifying James Johnson that he is ready to return to his job.

The fifty-five prisoners, all convicted on the same charge, have been confined in the dungeon and in separate cells.

Childs and some of the more fractious of the prisoners were placed on a diet of bread and water when they began the "strike," which followed Child's imprisonment in the dungeon when he refused to work in the jute mill.

Bandits Get $4,700 Roll

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Five masked bandits, today held up the paymaster of the John Wyeth & Brother Chemical Company and robbed him of a $4,700 payroll.

Matching sweaters and skirts can be bought for $10.75 total Value!

Wolf scarfs in the fashionable rose shade, $12.50

The ROSE shade in wolf scarfs is the most flattering, and therefore the scarcest.

$12.50 is a very unusual price for these scarfs, and when these are gone we probably will not be able to secure more at this low price.

(Filene's—mail and telephone orders filled—sixth floor)

—fuzzy golf sweaters, $5.75

THE sweaters are soft, soft, soft—and very well made for so low a price. Camel's hair color or gray, with finely striped novelty fronts; others in plain colors, $5.75.

The skirts are soft and woolly and made in wrap-around style. They have set-in pockets and other marks of surprisingly good making considering the price tag. Camel's hair color only, sizes 28 to 34, $5.

Other fuzzy sweaters range in price to $27.50 —and camel's hair color skirts to $18.50.

Filene's—mail and telephone orders filled—fifth floor

$3 buys a striped sateen slip in brown, navy or black

There's nothing unusual in the fact that dark colors are most popular just now when Winter clothes are foremost in our minds, but slips like these are not an every day occurrence. A cotton fabric that looks like silk, hip-hems, and bodice-tops with silk fagotting to add a dainty touch —that's why these are out of the ordinary at the price of $3.

Other slips, $1 to $16.50.

(Filene's—mail or telephone orders filled—third floor)

Value!—in the untrimmed hat shop
Satin cloche hats with sectional crowns, $3.95

Ever-resourceful the cloche! No sooner do we become accustomed to it in velvet, in felt, in velour—than up it bobs anew in satin. The untrimmed satin cloche sketched—in black, navy, or brown, $3.95.

Other satin hats in untrimmed millinery shop—some combined with velvet, some with "metal" cloth—in both regular and "shingle bob" head sizes, $3.95 to $5.95.

Filene's untrimmed hat shop—second floor

A big fleecy overcoat need cost only $35 —in the women's inexpensive coat shop

No cost wasted in ornamentation and tawdry trimmings in these big woolly overcoats. It has all gone into quality of fabric and sturdiness of making—and evolved a coat ideal for stormy weather and motoring. Of dark gray fuzzy cloth, double-faced, with "swanky" raglan sleeves and collar that buttons high under the chin, $35.

Many other styles at $35 in the inexpensive coat shop—and others as low as $10.75.

HOG CHOLERA KILLS 2,250,000 IN ONE YEAR

Washington, Nov. 2.—Cholera killed approximately four per cent. of the hogs on farms in the United States last year. The Bureau of Animal Industry, announcing this estimate today, said losses were heaviest in Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Georgia, Minnesota and South Dakota, in the order named. The total number of swine lost from hog cholera, exceeded 2,250,000.

MODEL'S STORY IS ATTACKED BY WIFE'S LAWYER

New York, Nov. 2.—The opening skirmish in the battle for divorce being waged by Edward W. Browning, millionaire, against Nellie Adele Browning, whom he accused of indiscretions in Paris with Charles Henry Wilen, dentist, was staged here in the Supreme Court.

Herman J. White, attorney for Browning, presented affidavits by Morris Pinkus, Rene Bouvier and Peggy Martin, concerning alleged deeds of Mrs. Browning.

Miss Martin's affidavit was to the effect that she, a model, had seen Mrs. Browning in Wilen's Greenwich Village studio. These affidavits were contradicted by Mrs. Browning's attorney, Frank E. Stripe.

During the hearing Browning and Wilen glared frequently at each other.

Mrs. Browning asked that a committee be appointed by the court to gather evidence in Paris to support her case.

GENERAL LOGAN IS MUCH BETTER

Major-General Edward L. Logan, commander of Massachusetts National Guard division, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia which developed from a cold he contracted while returning to Boston from the recent National Legion convention at San Francisco.

Gen. Logan

Stricken ill while attending to his duties as judge of the South Boston district court Tuesday, General Logan was removed to his home, where he has been under the constant care of Dr. Edward F. Denning.

Doubts Her Story

PEGGY MARTIN.

Her affidavit that she had seen Mrs. Browning in dentist's studio was contradicted by Mrs. Browning's lawyer in the divorce trial brought by the N. Y. millionaire. Inset is Mrs. Browning.

Washington—Bad booze has killed seventeen persons in Los Angeles this year, says a report to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. Victims suffered terrible pain. Chemists reported practically all the deaths were the result of wood and denatured alcohol poisoning.

EXPERTS HUNT FOR FRAUD IN VETS' BUREAU

Washington, Nov. 2 (I.N.S.)—The Senatorial probe of the United States Veterans' Bureau extended today into two other government departments, in its search for evidence of fraud and extravagance in the care of disabled veterans.

Special agents investigated transactions involving the expenditure of large sums by minor officials in the Treasury Department and the comptroller-general's office. They sought additional information.

Execution of a contract to purchase a hospital site at Excelsior Springs, Mo., for $182,100 by Ewing Laporte, a twenty-six-year-old former assistant treasury secretary, over the objections of the Public Health Service, and—

Payment of a $23,000 architect's claim to Matthew O'Brien of San Francisco for hospital plans at Livermore, Cal., by W. E. Gordon, chief of the Military Claims Division in the comptroller-general's office, over the protest of the Veterans' Bureau.

The Senators were particularly concerned by a memorandum found in the files of "the O'Brien case," which read:

"$3,000.

"$1,320."

This was taken to indicate the payment of a commission by O'Brien.

BATTLESHIPS TO LAY IDLE WITH BUDGET CUT

Washington, Nov. 2.—In the event that the director of the budget and Congress cut to deeply into appropriations for maintenance and operation of the navy through the next fiscal year on the basis of the 5-5-3 ration provided in the Naval Limitation Treaty, some battleships probably will be tied up in the navy yards.

While no formal announcement of policy has been made, indications are multiplying that officials of the Navy Department propose to economize on the larger ships, which are more expensive to operate, rather than tie up additional destroyers and other smaller craft.

Apparently the Navy Department and the Budget Bureau are still far from agreement, with the convening of Congress only a month in the future. The director of the budget, in announcing that estimates must be cut upward of $100,000,000 after department heads thought they already had cut them to the bone, proposed that the navy bear the larger part of the additional cut.

Los Angeles.—Five thousand women and girls of all ages were reported missing in Los Angeles during the past year, according to Mrs. Georgia Robinson of the police juvenile bureau. Dissatisfaction with conditions at home was responsible for most of the disappearances, she said.

U.S. STAR GAZERS LEAD ALL, SAYS SERVISS

Astronomers of the United States are leading all others in achievements, according to Garrett P. Serviss, who has just returned from an inspection of the leading European observatories. Professor Serviss says Yerkes and Harvard observatories are supreme in the field of star gazing and that every important discovery the last twenty years has been made in the United States. The large sums of money made available for scientific investigation here, and the poverty of Europe, he said, will probably keep the leadership in this country for many years.

Camel Hair Skirts $7.50

The softest and warmest of fabrics, genuine labeled camel's hair, is in the forefront of fashion. Two very new styles in the wrap-around effect are so smart with jacquette or sweater. The novel treatment of pockets, one and two-button side openings are new features.

All wool Skirts of distinction, $12.75

The fascination of these up to the minute skirts lies very largely in the fabric. Woolcrepe, novelty worsteds and prunella are prominent. Fashion, however, is not to be outdone, and panel style, stitched hips, or box pleats are featured. Skirt pockets are slit lengthwise or horizontally.

WIFE REFORMED BANDIT ONLY TO HAVE HIM SLAIN

New York, Nov. 2.—"Bill" Lovett, gangster and mankiller, who never gave his gun victims a chance, went the way of Jesse James and Pancho Villa when he meddled only once and was killed in his sleep in a Brooklyn tenement by an enemy.

Bill had reformed, too. Only a few months ago he married Mamie Lonergan, while Mamie's mother was being tried for the murder of her husband, a trial which ended in acquittal.

While Hallowe'en horns were blowing in the streets, one of the enemies that Bill had made in his bad years came creeping upon him in his reformation, and the gunman cashed in as he had lived, with no quarter and no chance.

No trace of the murderer has been found, and old detectives shake their heads and say it was better thus, it was not surprising, and maybe some honest copper with a family might have gone down with Bill if it had come to a showdown otherwise.

In police headquarters Mamie wept and told of the kindness of the slain bandit.

"He was going to be straight. He told me so when I married him," said Mamie. And then she cursed the man who had killed him while he slept.

Brooklyn is breathing easier today, however, although somewhere a mother may be grieving for her lost son. Bill was born in the shadow of the bridge, but his folks went away when his name became a synonym for bad-man.

TINKHAM RETURNS FROM SOUTH AMERICA

New York, Nov. 2.—Rep. George Holden Tinkham of Boston has arrived from South Africa, where he spent his vacation.

Rep. Tinkham

Tinkham went to Africa, he said, "because I wanted to observe what contacts America had with these outposts of a new civilization. If I am ever named on a committee on African relations I will be prepared.

"I also wanted to hunt big game and see if I could still shoot straight."

Tinkham was the guest of Premier Smuts.

DEAN ALBERS CITES SUPERLUOUS LAWS

Worcester, Nov. 2.—Dean Homer Albers of Boston University Law School in speaking to the Worcester Rotary Club on "Too Much Law," cited as examples of superfluous laws those which regulate the top and bottom of a woman's dress, the hours that individuals shall work and the law which dictates "When our God shall allow the sun to reach its zenith."

FREE STATE SHUNS LONDON CONFERENCE

Dublin, Nov. 2.—The Irish Free State government announces that the report that it has accepted an invitation to a conference in London, based on the agreement between Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, and Michael Collins, the Free State delegate, in 1920, is not true, and that it does not intend to accept.

Milk Price Raised

Fitchburg, Nov. 2.—Fitchburg milk dealers increased the price of milk one cent a quart. The prevailing price is 14 cents a quart.

PRICE OF SOFT COAL CUT TO $8 PER TON

Boston coal dealers today announced a reduction of 50 cents per ton in the price of bituminous coal, making the present price $8 per ton.

Soft coal prices have fallen several times since last March, when Boston dealers quoted it at $12 a ton, a price which had been maintained since the previous August. Eight 50-cent reductions have brought it down to the present price and dealers believe that it may be necessary to make further reductions to stimulate buying.

Overproduction at the mines and heavy shipments to the Eastern markets are responsible for the falling market, dealers say. They point out that bituminous coal at $8 per ton is an attractive substitute for anthracite at $16 per ton and upward.

NEVER LOVED WALLACE, MRS. STOKES DECLARES

time we were married until our separation."

Her husband's lawyer shifted his questioning to the correspondent. He asked the witness if Mrs. Stokes was in "easy access" to Wallace's apartment.

Mrs Stokes

W. E. D. Stokes

JUDGE WARNS LAWYER.

"Don't use that term—'easy access,'" warned the Justice. "Ask the witness where she was.

"I was always at my husband's home—the Ansonia Hotel," Mrs. Stokes said.

"Do you know that in October, 1918, Mr. Wallace"—Steurer started to say.

"Do you know about Wallace in 1918," interjected the witness.

Many women in the courtroom nodded approvingly.

"Or any year after 1909," Mrs. Stokes followed up quickly.

Stokes turned to his attorney and whispered something. Steuer suddenly changed his line of questioning. He asked Mrs. Stokes if she knew of the witnesses who testified for Stokes as seeing her at Wallace's flat.

"I was never in Wallace's flat and I never saw any of the witnesses and they never saw me," she replied.

As Mrs. Stokes met the sharp thrusts of the attorney, Stokes looked upon her with calm, unemotional expression. Occasionally he tugged at his mustache. When Mrs. Stokes seemed to be getting the better of the attorney, Stokes turned his back on the witness.

Steuer spent twenty minutes questioning Mrs. Stokes about a photograph she had taken in 1918. It was this photograph witnesses for her rich husband swore was on Wallace's dresser in 1914.

"I had that picture in 1918," Mrs. Stokes insisted.

Steuer sought to get Mrs. Stokes

S. Undermeyer

to say another red haired woman visited Wallace's apartment after she again denied she had ever been there.

"I cannot say anything about any other woman," Mrs. Stokes said. "All I can tell you I was not that woman."

The attorney turned back the pages of Mrs. Stokes' life to the day before her marriage. He questioned her regarding a number of home parties she attended in her girlhood.

Mrs. Stokes, however, was completely sure of herself. She gave dates in her life and events which transpired. On cross-examination it appeared, her testimony was far more helpful to her case than it had been on direct testimony.

Steuer inquired about fourteen photographs in Mrs. Stokes' album, taken on a ranch near Cheyenne, Wyo., in 1910.

"How many persons were in the party at the ranch," she was asked

"Fourteen," she replied.

"Can you find any picture showing more than four persons—you, another woman and two men?"

"That is all that appears in these photographs," she said.

Steuer read from Mrs. Stokes' testimony in 1921, at her first trial, in which she said she spent one day in St. Louis. "But I have no recollection of it having any connection with the World's Fair," Mrs. Stokes answered.

HELD DIARY IN LAP.

Mrs. Stokes held a diary in her lap as she testified. In this diary, according to the defendant's attorney, is the real story of marital drama of "Stokes vs. Stokes." In it the attorneys say, Mrs. Stokes has recorded many little details which transpired during her married life. The witness, however, was given no opportunity during the forenoon to make any use of the diary.

LLOYD GEORGE GIVES LAST SPEECH TONIGHT

New York, Nov. 2. (A.P.)—David Lloyd George tonight delivers his parting message to the American people. At the Metropolitan House, on the eve of his departure for England, Britain's wartime premier will face the last public gathering of his present tour of American and Canadian cities.

TRIPLETS COME TO YOUNG MOTHER OF 9

Today's dispatches indicate that the storks have an over supply of infants at present and are working them off in groups. From Nashua, N. H., come the report of three healthy babies, two boys and girl, being delivered to Mrs. Harry Welton of Riverside Place, Hudson, at St. Joseph's Hospital. They were her eleventh and twelfth child. From Noblesville, Ind., comes word that twins were born to Mrs. Fred Huff, making, they being her eighteenth and nineteenth child, all living. Mrs. Welton is thirty-two and Mrs. Huffman forty-four. The New England woman's handicap of twelve years should win her the prize.

FRANCE EASES TENSION IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Nov. 2 (I.N.S.).—American irritation over the French threat to limit the scope of the experts' inquiry into the reparations controversy was appreciably lessened today.

A copy of the French note to Great Britain accepting the invitation to the conference was received at the State Department, and it is understood it is not nearly as bombastic as the public utterances of Premier Poincare and the French Foreign Office have indicated.

In any event, it was apparent today that the sudden tension in the conference arrangements has been just as suddenly lessened. Whether this was caused by the conciliatory tone of the French communication or whether it was caused by outside assurances from Paris that France will "play ball" is not known, but the belief prevailed that differences in the French and British-American viewpoints will be smoothed out.

Paris, Nov. 2. (A.P.)—France accepts with cordiality the contemplated collaboration of the United States in a conference of experts to study Germany's capacity to pay reparations. She demands, however, that it be clearly understood the proposed inquiry should bear solely on the "present" capacity of Germany and that it should respect all the rights held by the reparation commission under the Treaty of Versailles.

This is the substance, it was learned today, of the reply France has made to the British note asking her to join Italy, Belgium and Great Britain in a collective invitation to the United States to be represented at the proposed conference.

ANDREW GREETED IN GLOUCESTER

Gloucester, Nov. 2.—Congressman A. Piatt Andrew was given a reception on his arrival home from a trip in France, dating from September 1.

He was met at the station by a large assemblage, including a band and the Legion Drum Corps, and escorted by a large number of citizens afoot and in automobiles, was brought to City Hall. Included in the assemblage were citizens from cities in his district.

HUB FIREMEN TO FIGHT FIRES WITH CHARTS

Future fires in Boston will be fought by charts of the burning buildings.

This is in keeping with the movement of fire fighting in the Hub from the old-fashioned haphazard style to a positive science.

Today at Boston fires every line of hose, every ladder is placed as strategically as a division commander would assign troops in combat. Not even a pane of glass is broken without orders and then with a definite purpose.

T. A. Glynn

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn just returned from a fire officials' convention in the South, observed that Boston is the leader in scientific firefighting.

CHARTS FOR CHIEFS.

For example, he pointed out that the convention waxed enthusiastic over a hose coupling that it believed was new and urged its adoption throughout the United States.

"That same coupling has been used here for the past eleven years," the commissioner said. "It's known as the 'Roxbury thread'."

Fire-fighting by chart, however, is an innovation. Every district fire chief will be equipped with charts of the buildings in his district, made at his direction.

Each chart will show elevator wells, lofts, stairways, blind and connecting passages, storage space and the amount of material stored.

WILL SAVE LIVES.

This innovation will be established in all the business sections of the city, known in insurance circles as the "high value sections." Not only will it aid the department to stop many fires at their start, but also reduce loss of life.

Both Commissioner Glynn and Chief John C. Tabor are in accord with the idea and expect that it will be picked up by other large cities.

The need of the chart system was impressed on Commissioner Glynn at a fire in a building of apparently six stories. The sixth story proved to be a blind as if firemen had entered through its windows they would have fell one floor.

SHOWS UP TRAPS.

In this particular building there was a shaft running through the centre. It is alleged that every door on each floor was wide open. A drop through this areaway would have meant death. These facts were not known to the fire fighting force until entrance was made during the fire.

A chart of the building would also have caused the fire to have been fought from a better angle.

Another feature under consideration by Commissioner Glynn is that of a movable "fire headquarters." This would be an automobile lighted, with detachable desk. This "headquarters" would have plans and charts of all large buildings in the down-town section.

Carharts Are Leaving Hunting Colony Soon, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE Amory S. Carharts, who were of the gay hunting colony along the North Shore, are returning shortly to their home in Tuxedo Park, New York.

Mrs. Carhart—she is known as "Dolly" to her intimates—was formerly Miss Isadora Bliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Bliss, of Commonwealth avenue. Since her marriage to the Harvard '20 man a few years ago, her home has been in New York, but she has kept up her many associations here.

During their stay on the shore the Carharts had the Robbins place at Hamilton, which, of course, is quite the centre of hunting activities down that way. The late Fall always brings a coterie of devotees of the sport to the shore, where they follow the Myopia hounds.

Apropos of the Carharts, society was considerably interested to hear the other day of the engagement of Mr. Carhart's sister, Miss Marion R. Carhart, to George Amory of Boston. The latter is the son of Edward J. Amory of Wilmington, Del., but makes his home here in Boston with his aunt, Mrs. Amory Lawrence of Commonwealth avenue. Miss Carhart lives with her brother and sister-in-law, who have a year-round home in Tuxedo Park, though they keep an apartment in New York for visits to Gotham.

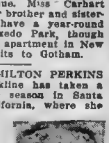
MRS. HAMILTON PERKINS of Brookline has taken a villa for the season in Santa Barbara, California, where she was last Winter also. With her is her little grandson, Hamilton Perkins, better known as "Hammy," while the latter's brother, Pelham, is at school in Santa Barbara.



Mrs. Greenough

The two little boys are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Greenough, 2d, also of Brookline. Later on, probably the latter part of December, Mr. and Mrs. Greenough (Margaret Perkins) will make the trip across the continent for a visit with Mrs. Perkins and the boys.

MRS. WILLIAM APPLETON BURNHAM, formerly of Boston, is returning this week to her home in New York following a month's sojourn at Hot Springs.

ON December 17 Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Oakes, Jr. are giving a dance to present their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Oakes, who was of the group elected to membership in the Junior League this season. The affair will be held at the Brookline residence of Mr. and Mrs. Oakes.

MISS GWENDOLEN HART of Beacon street is to be maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Mary ("Polly") Cabot and George Rainsford Martin of New York. The ceremony will be solemnized on November 22 at St. Paul's Cathedral. Cabot is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks Cabot of Marlboro street, and was one of the most popular debutantes of the 1920-21 season.

NOLEN'S HIGHBOY SELLS FOR $3,100

New York, Nov. 2.—Excitement went to fever heat at the Nolen auction sale here, when an early American highboy was sold for $3,100 after a session of frantic competitive bidding. The amount which it brought is said to have been as great a surprise to those in charge of the disposal of the "Widow" Nolen's antiques at the Anderson galleries as it was to those gathered in the auction rooms.

The 180 pieces of the Harvard tutor's collection offered brought $16,974.50, making the total amount from the first four days of the sale $50,695.

Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, a New York dealer, came away the victor in the highboy warfare, which he bought for a Philadelphia collector.

Boston names continued to appear on the list of purchasers at the sale. Among these were C. L. Cooney, N. Kasgman and G. C. Beals. Other Massachusetts buyers were Mrs. G. M. G. Nichols, Auburn; C. T. Crocker, Fitchburg and Dr. F. A. Conlon, Lawrence.

FAVORS RAISE FOR LETTER CARRIERS

Senator William I. Hennessey of Dorchester has filed with the clerk of the State a resolve memorializing Congress in favor of increases in salaries for letter carriers and clerks in the postal service, fixing the annual salary for the first year of service at $2,000, with automatic increases to $2,200 in the second year and $2,400

IRISH CASTLE OF MRS. CROKER RAIDED

New York, Nov. 2—Asserting that a concerted attack was being made on her on both sides of the Atlantic Mrs. Paula Edmondson Croker, widow of the Tammany leader, declared here that Glencairn, her Irish castle, had been raided and searched for liquor before the sailing at West Palm Beach of another suit involving her husband's estate.

After successfully defending suits brought by stepchildren contest in of their father, Mrs Croker said she Mrs. B. E. Croker has been notified from action brought by Joseph Lewis, mayor of West Palm Beach, and W. E. Mazes, treasurer of the I.W. C. A. there, to compel the seizing of a deposit box in the First National Bank of West Palm Beach, said to contain another will.

Its bequests which the alleged will is said to make, Mrs. Croker declares are identical with the provisions of her own will, made in November, 1919, which she subsequently revoked. A transcript of this document, she said, had been produced in court at the trial of the former will case in Dublin, and unlawfully furnished the basis for the intentions of the West Palm Beach suit.

OFFICE BOY JOB FOR GRANDSON OF JOHN D.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Godfrey S. Rockefeller, son of the late William G. Rockefeller and grandnephew of John D Rockefeller expected to begin a banking career here this morning—as an office boy.

The heir to millions arrived in the city last night with his bride of five months, the former Miss Helen Gratz of St. Louis, and found their modest apartment untenable because the company "forgot" to turn on the gas and electricity.

Rockefeller said he heard the Albany Bank "was a good bank" so he "thought it would be a good place to start in." He applied for a "job," he said, "just like everybody has to do," and got it.

Bank officials said his being a Rockefeller has no bearing on the matter. "He will be employed at the same salary as any clerk entering the bank."

Bank officials said he had been engaged as "clerk." Rockefeller said he expected to "start as office boy."

The Rockefellers were married in June and sailed for Europe on July 1 from Quebec. They returned October 15.

PLACARD ON MUSEUM DEFENDS ART WORKS

Portland, Ore., Nov. 2.—A big placard bearing the motto of the British order of Knights of the Garter, "Honi Soit Qui Maly Pense" (evil to him who evil thinks), adorns the five large bas relief figures outside of the Portland Art Museum today. The figures are of nude women in classic pose and were erected over the protest of Portland city officials. The card was hung up by Hallowe'en merrymakers and the museum heads evidently approved of it, for they allowed it to remain.

TENNESSEAN OF 60 TAKES BRIDE OF 31

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 2.—Tennessee December and Massachusetts May were paired in this city when Gay W. Johnson of Chattanooga and Mrs. Florence I. Estes of Bridgewater in their respective States were married by City Clerk Edward A. Weeks, Jr., following a waiver of the five-day law by Judge Guptil. Johnson, who is a salesman and sixty, had hitherto renounced the joys of matrimony, but Mrs. Estes, who is thirty-one, had been married before.

POLK WILL NOT LAND ALIENS AT PORTLAND

Portland Me., Nov. 2. — The steamship President Polk of the United States lines, one of the new big liners here or approaching this port, will not debark her passengers here. This was decided while she was awaiting her turn to dock. The passengers will be examined on board by local immigration and customs officials and then the Polk will leave for New York.

DYING SUICIDE PENS STORY OF EBBING LIFE

East St Louis, Ill., Nov. 2.—Howard Flagg, wounded World War veteran, wrote a progressive account of his death in his wife as he ended life by asphyxiation in a carefully sealed room at the Flagg home here.

His farewell note was made public by the police.

Flagg, who was twenty-seven years old, had been in failing health since he was gassed in France. He grew despondent after being out of work for several days and decided to end his struggle for existence.

"It has taken me hours to fix things up," he wrote his wife. "I am tired and I want to go—

"In a few minutes I will be gone. The gas already is taking effect.

"I laid on the floor so the neighbors would not hear me fall. I am writing you, dear wife, as the last minutes go by. Say g-odby to all the folks and please, Ethel, forgive me—

"I hope no one will find me until it is too late—

"God bless you, Ethel."

Then as he died, Flagg penciled with trembling hand:

"It is getting cold—I am dying—so try to forget me, Ethel, forget me. My hand is trembling—I am going—"

SUGAR AT RETAIL DROPS HALF A CENT

The retail price of sugar dropped half a cent a pound, from 10½ cents to 10, at Greater Boston's chain grocery stores and large retailers, following announcement that refiners had started a price-cutting movement to stimulate a lagging demand by customers. Fine granulated sugar was reduced to $8.60 a hundred pounds by a leading refiner and this lead was generally followed by other refiners.

PROFESSOR'S MOTHER FIGHTS FOR LEGACY

Mrs. Sarah G. Jameson, mother of the late Robert M. Jameson, who was assistant professor of economics at Boston University, announced that she will wage a legal battle to retain $24,000 given to her by her son shortly before he attempted to kill her several months ago. Jameson committed suicide after failing in his attempt to kill his mother and shortly after his wife Mrs. Elizabeth Jameson started legal proceedings to have turned over to her and an infant son whatever estate her late husband left.

Atty. William Todd was appointed at the request of the widow, who had a divorce proceeding pending against her husband at the time of his death. Mrs. Jameson, who was Elizabeth Fannie Grosse of Providence, and whose father is a wealthy grapefruit grower in Florida, came into the Jameson family through the medium of the Lonely Hearts Club.

She is mother of a child by Jameson and although she had been separated from him for several months and had not received any support from him since, she now claims whatever he left for herself and child.

A. Van Allen Thomason and Dexter B. Pattison, representing Jameson and whatever interests his mother, Mrs. Sarah G. Jameson, might have in her son's estate, assert that the money the son gave his mother shortly before his death was by way of repayment of what it had cost her to educate him.

Todd maintains that the money was given to defeat any attempt the wife might make to lay claim to it for herself and child.

PEPPER SEES ALL "DRY" IN TEN YEARS

PARADE BY HAT SHOP LANDS MATTAPAN GIRL IN JAIL

Violet C. Canfield, 26 years old, of No. 49 Browning avenue, Mattapan, was arrested by Patrolman Mortimer of the Back Bay police charged with the larceny of five hats from Theresa's Hat Shop, No. 166 Huntington avenue. Violet's downfall came about when she paraded by the store wearing a hat which Theresa Bogan, proprietor of the hat shop, claims to have recognized as one stolen from her place some weeks ago.

She followed Violet along Huntington avenue until she reached Patrolman Mortimer. Later policemen went to her home and found four more hats which it is claimed were taken from Theresa's Hat Shop.

DRIVER FLEES AFTER INJURY TO BOY IN WEST END STREET

Antony Zemaski, eleven years old son of Mrs. Julia Zemaski, No. 15 Lovell street, West End, received a fracture of the leg when he was knocked down and run over at Cotting st Lowell streets, West End, by an unidentified motorist. Police of that name over and Joy street police station are searching for the driver, whom witnesses said drove a sedan. According to witnesses and the boy's mother, the boy was returning from a store when the accident occurred. After driving over the boy, the motorist fled toward Cambridge.

THE STYLE IS ALWAYS RIGHT IN HART SCHAFFNER & MARX COATS

THERE'S nothing that you wear that attracts more attention than your overcoat. It ought to be favorable attention. It will be if the coat is right—in style, in fit, in quality and in price.

Our name in the coat takes care of everything; it guarantees satisfaction.

Several of the new coats are pictured here. They are all loosely draped; there's plenty of ease and freedom in every one of them.

You may like the belted coats; they're good; half belts at the back; or three quarter belts or belts all around.

The full coats that hang generously from the shoulders are especially stylish; single or double breasted models.

Rabelais Sheep
A Real Radiogram
To Hang for an Idea
Deer Living, Wolves Dead
Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

WALL STREET gentlemen should read again the interesting sea voyage described by Rabelais, and the story of the sheep merchant, on board. One sheep being thrown overboard, all the other sheep jumped after it, and the sheepman was ruined. That's what happens, where our brightest financial minds, with deep economic intelligence, weigh causes and effects, and then jump overboard. They got a lesson from Judge Gary's little dividend tilt, on Wednesday. And they got another lesson yesterday. "It does not pay to sell the United States short." That was well said.

IF YOU ARE a radio enthusiast, and understand such things, you will be interested in yesterday's announcement. A message, receiving its only impulse on this side of the ocean, made the trip of 9,000 miles to Warsaw and back 20 times, a total distance of 360,000 miles. That is almost twice as far as light and electricity travel in one second. It amazes us now. We see it, and work it, and know nothing about it. Some day we'll send message to outside suns, ending with "Please answer," knowing that, at 186,000 miles a second, the answer will not be back in time for our grandchildren to read it.

EUGENE V. DEBS says prison didn't frighten him. Right now he could "hang 'or an idea." That's noble, once in a while, although you must first be sure that your idea IS sound. For one man hanged for a good idea, ten thousand have been hanged for ideas thoroughly bad.

IF YOU HAVE a sound idea, don't hang for it; publish it, repeat it, persuade others to accept it. Voltaire opposed torture of witnesses, breaking every miserable judge in one famous case, after a fight of many years. He defied Frederick the Great, greater warrior, and finally died peacefully in his bed nearly eighty-five years old, rich in money, adored by the people that drew his carriage through the streets. He showed the right way to deal with an idea. That was better than poor John Brown of Harper's Ferry, never living to see anything accomplished.

It takes one kind of ability to "hang" for an idea, and it takes a higher kind to convert or hang those that oppose the idea when it is right.

A FIVE TON TRUCK, stuck in Long Island mud, loaded with cauliflower, is attacked by deer while the driver goes for help, and the cauliflower eaten. In that same place, two or three hundred years ago, wolves would soon have appeared to eat the deer within a few miles of the world's biggest city.

Why are there no wolves, but plenty of deer? Because deer help and warn each other. As 50 deer graze or browse, each deer has 100 eyes watching, 100 ears listening to protect him. The wolves betrayed and fought each other, and they vanished. Read Kropotkin's "Mutual Aid, as a Factor in Evolution" and learn that the survival of the loyal and true is as definite as the survival of the fittest.

INASMUCH as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, My brethren, ye have done it unto Me. Thus Christ spoke through his servant, Matthew. Julius Rosenwald, although he is not a Christian, takes the hint and gives $100,000 to feed Germany's starving children. What 100 percent Christian will follow that example?

YOUNG J. WARNER BELLAH, of Columbia, won the Knopp prize, with a book written in 19 hours. The world admires the ease with which he writes. If Balzac were alive he would tell Mr. Bellah what he wrote to Racine, then about Bellah's age. "You tell me that you write with great ease. I hope to teach you to write with great difficulty."

After he began writing with difficulty, Racine amounted to something. Nothing worth while was ever done easily. If you find it easy, make it hard, by doing it better and doing it over.

TO CLEAN UP LYNN LODGINGS

As a result of criticism by ministers Lynn police have started a cleanup of lodging houses.

Mrs. Annie Thomas, proprietor of a lodging house at No. 311 Summer street, was fined $100 by Judge Kiley for failing to keep a proper register. Four of her lodgers were each fined $50.

MURLIN WARNS OF NEW WAR

President J. H. Murlin of Boston University told a large congregation in King's Chapel today:

"War is inevitable. It is bound to come. Nations cannot go on by competition with a war-like mind and more strife in their make up than these nations had ten years ago."

The speaker drew a graphic picture of what he saw of suffering in his European tour this summer and added:

"There is no Christ-like God in Europe. They have a pagan God, the tool of overlords.

"France wants the League of Nations under her control and has a French mind, Germany has a German mind, Italy has an Italian mind and not until Europe has a new mind can anything be done."

CHARGES JURY WAS MISLED IN SACCO CASE

Charges that the prosecuting attorney in the Sacco-Vanzetti murder trial deliberately misled the jury in arguing that Nicola Sacco fired the bullet which killed Alessandro Berardelli, Braintree paymaster's guard, and argument that Captain William Proctor of the State detective force, if he could be called to the stand, would testify that the bullet did not come from Sacco's gun, were made by Attorney William G. Thompson of Sacco's counsel at the hearing on motions for new trials for Sacco and Vanzetti in Dedham Superior Court today.

Attorney Thomas also argued that testimony of Captain Van Amburgh, government arms expert, who first gave it as his opinion that it was "consistent" that Sacco fired the fatal shot, later making affidavit to the effect that he "was sure of the fact" served to mislead the jury.

Judge Webster Thayer inquired of Attorney Thompson if he contended that then District Attorney Frederick Katzmann, deliberately prearranged the question as to Sacco firing the fatal bullet in the prosecutor's address to the jury.

"Yes I do," was Thompson's answer.

FAIRBANKS FIGHTS FOR HOLLYWOOD

Brings Suit to Vindicate Stars and Silence the "Scandal Mongers" for Good

Los Angeles, Nov. 2.—Introducing Douglas Fairbanks as the St. George of Hollywood.

In this role the athletic film star will seek to slay the dragon of movie scandal rumor.

His shield and his sword will be a suit against a New York monthly film "fan" magazine, which intimates in its current issue that, because of his attentions to prominent young women screen actresses, domestic harmony and happiness as exists between Fairbanks and his wife Mary Pickford, has been jeopardized.

The cinema maidens—although one is a matron—whom Fairbanks is said will seek to protect from the dragon, are Evelyn Brent (Mrs. B. P. Finemn) and Marguerite De La Motte.

Instructions to prepare the suit today were telegraphed to a New York firm of attorneys, which for a number of years has acted for both Fairbanks and Miss Pickford.

WILL VINDICATE STARS.

This firm is O'Brien, Macelwaine & Driscoll, and it has been given carte blanc to proceed against the magazine as it sees fit.

If the Pickford-Fairbanks lawyers decide to sue for $1,000,000, the amount is agreeable to Fairbanks and his wife; if the amount be $1, that sum, too, is agreeable to them.

For, Fairbanks today protested, his chief motive in ordering the action to be pressed against the magazine offenders that Hollywood and its screen workers hereafter may rest safe from such attacks as no complains have just been made against him and his wife.

The suit may be either criminal or civil; that, too, has been left to the attorneys to decide.

It was intimated today that Miss Brent probably will join Fairbanks and Miss Pickford in the suit, but Miss De La Motte, however, will not appear as a plaintiff, but, instead, be one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution.

STILL LOVES DOUGLAS.

"I feel quite sure of Douglas' affections thus far."

This was the way Mrs. Fairbanks humorously referred to the magazine rumors and their sequel in Hollywood today, which culminated in the order for the lawsuit.

"America's Sweetheart" added: "I am indeed proud of my husband for the way he has gone about it to protect the good name of these women, my friends. He's a fighter."

This is how Fairbanks summarized the situation:

"I say it was time, indeed, something was done to protect the name of Hollywood and I've started out to try to do it. Such outrages no longer should be tolerated, so let's end them."

Miss de la Motte, who was a member of Fairbanks' supporting company in "The Three Musketeers," stated today she had not read the complained of article and that she left Fairbanks' service for "the sole reason," that her contract with him had expired.

KLAN MEETS IN SPITE OF CURLEY

Sixty Members of Hooded Order Secretly Gather in Boston Hotel

Sixty members of the Ku Klux Klan, under the leadership of E. Eugene Farnsworth, head of the Klan in the State of Maine, banqueted for two hours in the Gold Room of the Hotel Lenox, in defiance of Mayor Curley's threat that he would not permit the Klan to meet in Boston.

King Kleagle Farnsworth, as he made his escape to a waiting taxi at the rear exit from the hotel at the conclusion of the banquet told newspaper men:

"Certainly, we had a meeting. You can tell that to Mayor Curley."

Newspapermen were not admitted to the banquet. From points of vantage, however, parts of the various addresses were overheard.

"The Ku Klux Klan now has 20,000 members in Boston, and the membership drive has only begun," said one Klansman.

"Meetings have been held in every part of Boston," said another. "One of our most successful meetings was held in a hall in Codman square in Dorchester. Our meetings have been held under the names of other organizations, a circumstance forced upon us."

"We are now planning a campaign to d ive every Roman Catholic candidate per office in Boston. The campaign is making headway, and the next election will be the massacre of our enemies," said another Klansman.

King Kleagle Farnsworth remarked from the platform in Rochester, N. H., on the night previous, that he would attend a Ku Klux Klan banquet in Boston, and that Mayor Curley would not know anything about it until he read of it in the newspapers when he ate his breakfast the following morning.

The manager of the Lenox Hotel, when asked what arrangements the K. K. K. had made for renting the Gold Room, said he did not know at the time the hall was leased it was for the Klan.

"Several young men came to us," he said, "and stated it was to rent the hall for a Boston University fraternity banquet. The price were of college size and we didn't suspect they represented the Klan."

When the meeting broke up, some of the Klansmen left the hotel by the front entrance while the speakers and officials walked through the rear to a rear exit, where they were whisked away in automobiles and taxicabs.

ACCUSE 2 COPS OF HOLDUP AND SHOOTING

New York, Nov. 2.—Two policemen were arrested today on felonious assault charges after a shooting affray in which two men, bystanders, were wounded by one bullet fired by the patrolmen in pursuit of a restaurant proprietor who alleges they held him up.

The officers, Daniel J. Griffin and Charles J. Lynch, had spent several hours with a fellow-patrolman, George F. Mahoney, with two young women in a Harlem cafe. Griffin and Lynch left the place ahead of Mahoney and the women and are alleged to have accosted Louis Cangro, a restaurant man, searching his pockets. Cangro ran, with Griffin and Lynch in pursuit, firing.

A stray bullet passed through the neck of John Maher, a taxicab driver, and also wounded his companion, Thomas Cayne, over the eye. Griffin and Lynch were arrested by patrolmen of the riot squad called out by the fusillade of shots.

RUTH W. DARLING

GIRL VANISHES MYSTERIOUSLY; REAPPEARS

The mysterious disappearance, and the equally mysterious finding, of Ruth Woodbury Darling, wealthy graduate of an Allston preparatory school, puzzles the police and her friends.

Miss Darling, a frail little orphan of twenty-one summers, vanished from her grandmother's home in the night.

Less than an hour after appeals had been made by the grandmother to the police, the latter were notified that the girl had been found.

"She is thirty miles from Boston, that is all I care to say." That was the grandmother's answer to the police and others.

While the girl went away, where she has been, where she is now and why her present whereabouts is being kept a secret are questions yet to be answered.

The grandmother is Mrs. Charles Underhill, of No. 27 Buckminster street, Allston.

Ruth was graduated from Dean Academy last year. Her health has not been good and she has delayed going to college.

Tuesday night Ruth retired. In the morning, when the grandmother went to call her, Ruth had vanished.

With Ruth went three of her own bank books of Boston banks. Funds had not been withdrawn. Ruth carried with her a small black suitcase. She is described by her grandmother as: Five feet four inches in height, weighs nine-two pounds, has fair complexion, dark brown hair, blue gray eyes, and her wearing apparel included an overcoat, dark blue hat with a green feather, low black shoes, black stockings and a gold bracelet on her right wrist.

OPEN TWO-DAY DARTMOUTH CELEBRATION

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 2.—Dartmouth College today opened a two-day period of activity never equaled in its 156 years of existence. The program includes four athletic contests, the Dartmouth Night annual reunion, dedication of the memorial arch in honor of the 112 graduates who lost their lives in the World War, presentation of the memorial field to the college and dedication of the new stadium with the Cornell football game tomorrow.

Dedication of the memorial arch, bearing a bronze tablet with the college's honor roll, will take place tonight. The archway is one of the entrances to the stadium, which will seat 7,200 persons and which was built at a cost of $150,000.

Included in today's activities is a soccer game between Dartmouth and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Tomorrow morning Dartmouth and Cornell cross country teams will race.

The climax will be the dedication of the stadium tomorrow.

Dartmouth football teams have taken part in the dedication of athletic fields or stadiums at Harvard, University of Washington, Princeton and the University of Vermont, and in each instance defeated the opposing team.

who came to Danvers to marry Lydia Devereaux Eliza Miller after an ardent correspondence via Uncle Sam's mails. When William arrived he found his waiting bride-to-be was not waiting. She had changed her mind. William threatened breach of promise action and she reconsidered. The little matter of a divorce from a wife in the West came up and as William said he had left his divorce papers behind delay followed.

The climax came when Lydia was committed to the Danvers asylum. William wanted to visit his former sweetheart but was counselled otherwise. Friends passed the hat and a ticket was purchased for Montana. William is now en route.

JUDGE SCORED JURYMEN WHO FREE THIEVES

Representative Gustave W. Evard of Woburn would like to have an opportunity to appear before the legislative commission considering the jury system. He wants to have Judge Hugo Dubuque of the Superior accompany him.

His auto was stolen from Chelsea some time ago and recovered in Charlestown badly smashed. It cost him $130 for repairs.

Frank Taylor and two companions were arrested. Taylor was found guilty in Revere Court and sentenced to three months in jail. He appealed and the case came before Judge Dubuque and a jury for trial in the Superior Court.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty. When the verdict was announced, Judge Dubuque made this statement:

"How could you render such a verdict? It is absolutely indefensible. I hope that neither you nor your friends will have an automobile misappropriated by thee or four men who take an unguarded machine and go on a joy ride, and I hope your friends do not have to pay $100 or $150 for repairs."

The arrest was made by a new member of the Boston police force. It is said that two members of the jury were former members of the force.

LITTLE BEARS SEEK TO ADOPT GIRL WAIF

Joseph and Rachael Little Bear, of Boston, today filed in Suffolk Probate Court through E. R. Sparraw of the State Department of Public Welfare, a petition that they be permitted to adopt Mary Elizabeth Vicaire, also known as Patina, whom they have had in their possession since July 1921.

The child, born March 24, 1918, is the daughter of Alexis and Mary Vicaire of Restigouche, Que., and, the petition states, has been deserted and neglected by her mother for two years. The father consents to the adoption. The court granted a hearing on the petition for November 22.

ZEV OFF FOR KENTUCKY RACE, RIDES IN UPHOLSTERED CAR

New York, Nov. 2.—Zev, Harry Sinclair's half-million-dollar three-year-old, conqueror of Papyrus in the $100,000 international race, is en route for Latonia today to meet My Own, Admiral Cary Grayson's half-million-dollar prize colt, in the $50,000 Latonia Championship tomorrow, to decide, virtually, the three-year-old championship of the world.

Zev is riding in a specially prepared and upholstered car.

Earl Sande, who will pilot Zev in the race, also left for Kentucky yesterday.

It has been decided that McAtee will pilot My Own if Rialto is scratched, or the wise Clarence Kummer will do the job.

MRS. BISHOP URGES BETTER CARE OF VETS

Worcester, Nov. 2.—Something is radically wrong with government officials concerned in caring for World War veterans, according to charges made today by Mrs. Franklin A. Bishop, Leicester, just returned from the American Legion convention, San Francisco, where she was elected national president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. F. A. Bishop.

"Look at the veterans hospitals in Rutland," said Mrs. Bishop, "where over a million dollars was expended on a building that can only accommodate 124 men. Something is radically wrong.

"It is time for everyone really interested to take action. Each individual is morally responsible for the conditions in hospitals today."

HARVARD PROFESSOR TEACHES RELIGION BY DANCING

PURIFIES MIND BY RHYTHM

Plans an Appeal to Creative Workers Who Are Held Back by Moods

Teaching religion through the medium of dancing is the purpose of Professor John Bovingdon, Harvard graduate and instructor, whose Artists' Church or, as he calls it, "The Church of Rythmic Activity," in Carnegie Hall is now on the regular Sunday schedule of New York.

"Religion" said Professor Bovingdon, "is simply the readjusting of the subconscious mind so that it will harmonize with our belief."

By dancing, which he teaches, he believes all the ills of the world can and will be corrected.

At present the church consists of a studio opened for its purposes by one of the professor's disciples.

The "altar" is a large strip of colored silk hung in front of where the pulpit would be if there were any. Professor Bovingdon explained, "must be beautiful but not sacred."

WORSHIP TO RYTHM.

Rythm will be the ritual and the "sermon" will be a discussion between worshippers and instructors as to what form of rhythm had been used, the form being changed at each gathering.

"We expect to appeal to the creative workers who are held back by their moods," says Professor Bovingdon in further explanation of his idea. "Melancholia, anger, worry and any other fundamental 'wrong' moods must be dispelled and give place to the 'morning mood' they give relief."

Symbolic interpretation of the Bible by dancing is the earliest form of religious worship, Professor Bovingdon pointed out, when people gathered in groups to "pantomime their idea of God, what they were afraid He was like or what they hoped He was."

EATS NO MEAT.

Professor Bovingdon, native of Seattle, Wash., is a handsome, youthful, athletic man with gray green eyes and red-brown hair. He does not smoke or drink and eats no meat—one full meal and a

Miss Ada Wall, Cambridge apartment subletter, has identified him as the person who rented the quiet lure flat where Max Korn and Kenneth Merrill are alleged to have been trapped and shaken down.

DAILY JAM IN COURT

Even though Mrs. Lyons had turned Mr Kane down respective to enlarging the scope of her activities she received a $10 Christmas gift from the boys, she revealed.

Attorney Joseph P. Walsh, counsel for "Big Bill" Corcoran, who with others are charged with blackmail and extortion, in cross-examining Mrs Lyons attempted to show that she was mistaken in the date of her employment with the drug concern. Introducing the $19 payment to her as her first to 3 days' pay.

"Mr. Kane asked me if I'd mind being found in a room with a man."

"Oh, no that was a Christmas gift," smiled the witness while the Palstaffian attorney paused for breath.

Today was the thirteenth day of the trial. Seats were at a premium with the courtroom jammed, but Officer Rounds who was stationed when the gate was crashed late Thursday, had not met with any catastrophe, having help in guarding the sacred portals

Today's testimony follows:

CHAIN OF STORES

When the trial was resumed today Mrs. Lyons was examined by Prosecutor Hill.

Q.—What was the character of the business done by the General Drug Corp.? A.—I don't know. I claimed they were to organize a chain of drug stores. One was started while I was there.

Attorney Joseph P. Walsh objected to the word "claimed" in her answer.

Q.—Mr. Lyons, again—What business was carried on there? A.—They opened a drug store on Dorchester avenue.

Q.—By Mr Hill—Anything else done there? A. Stock was sold for the company.

Q.—Tell in your own way any other conversations you heard during the period of your employment with the General Drug Company on the same matter or any other matter in which officials or any of them participated, not relating to ord nary business. A.—I remember one conversation with J Warren Kane. I believe this was the same day of the [illegible] I was supposed to have testified to. Kane came into my room. He asked me if I would mind being found in a room with a man. He said "There wouldn't be any danger for you and you will be fixed up with money and you will be all right." I told him I wouldn't do anything of the kind

CORCORAN'S VISITS

Q.—Do you recall any other conversations? A.—Nothing definite—only in a general way.

Q—Is that your best recollection of everything you heard? A—I think that is all I remember in regard to that matter

Q—Did the defendants have other conversations [illegible]? A—I s bel they usually held them in the directors' room and closed the door

Q.—What were the circumstances of your leaving the General Drug Company? A—I was dismissed. The company closed up its office and I was discharged.

Q.—How often did the different officers and defendants whom you have mentioned visit the General Drug Company office? Mr. William J Corcoran, for instance? A.—Three or four times a week.

Q.—Leo Corcoran? A.—About three or four times a week.

Q.—Mr. Lyons? A.—Not so often.

Q.—Mr. Kane? A.—He came with William J. Corcoran and sometimes alone.

Q.—How often did Mr. Sprecklin come? A.—Only at the directors' meetings.

Q.—How frequently did they hold directors' meetings? A.—Once a month.

SERVED LIQUOR

Q.—How often did Mr. Bottomly call at the office? A.—Once a week for every two weeks.

Robert J. Bottomley

Q.—Was liquor served at any of these meetings? A.—Liquor was served at times.

Q.—How frequently? A.—About once a month.

Q.—I forgot to ask you, how frequently Mr. Levenson called at the office? A.—About every two weeks.

Q.—How often did Mr. Rothschild come to the office? A.—He came once a week.

Q.—Did you ever see Mrs. Dugan or Mrs. Reese at the office? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever know these ladies? A.—No sir.

Q.—Was Mr. Rothschild connected with the General Drug Company? A.—At one time he had charge of selling stock.

Q.—When were you married? A.—On January 24, 1920

Q.—You continued in the employ of the company after your marriage? A.—Yes.

SIX WEEKS AFTER

Mrs. Lyons was then cross examined by Attorney Joseph P. Walsh, counsel for William J. Corcoran.

Q.—You stated, Mrs. Lyons, that you overheard this conversation a month or six weeks after you went to work for the company? A.—Yes.

Q.—Where did you work before that, A.—For H. L. Perrin.

Q.—What was his business? A.—Attorney at law.

Q.—How long did you work for Mr. Perrin? A.—Four months.

Q.—Where did you next work? A.—For the Federal Reserve Bank.

Q.—How long did you work there? A.—Five weeks.

Q.—Did you ever work for Lever Bros., Cambridge? A.—Yes, I did some outside canvassing for them

Q.—When did you work for Lever Bros.? A.—Just before I went to work for the General Drug Company.

Q.—Had you forgotten Mrs. Lyons, that you had worked for Lever Brothers?

Question excluded on objection of Prosecutor Hill.

THROUGH SWENDEMAN

Q.—Why didn't you tell us you worked for Lever Brothers? A.—Because I only worked for them two weeks.

Q.—Did you know Mr. Swendeman while at Lever Brothers? A.—No

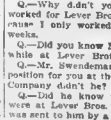
Q.—Mr. Swendeman secured your position for you at the General Drug Company didn't he? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did he know you while you were at Lever Bros. A.—No, sir. I was sent to him by a friend.

Q.—Who was that friend? A.—Walter Palmer.

Q.—Who was Walter Palmer? A.—Advertising manager for Lever Bros.

Q.—And you met Mr. Swendeman



The $10 bill, Mrs. Lyons testified, was a Christmas gift and not two days' pay.

through Mr. Palmer? A.—Mr. Palm er sent me to Mr. Swendeman.

Q.—He sent you to Swendeman at the General Drug Company. A.—No. Mr. Swendeman at that time had a private office in the same building with the General Drug Company.

Q.—Was Mr. Swendeman connected with anybody in that office? A.—Yes, with a Mr. Adams.

Q.—Would you be surprised, Mrs. Lyons, to learn that the General Drug Company did not come into existence until December, 1919, and that the General Drug Company succeeded the Adams Drug Company? A.—No, I think the Adams Drug Company succeeded the General Drug Company.

GIFT OF $10

At this point Attorney Walsh introduced records of the General Drug Company relative to $20 a week pay received by Mrs. Lyons. He tried to show that the witness was mistaken when she testified she went to work for the company in September, 1919. Attorney Walsh endeavored to establish the fact that she received her first pay in December, through an entry on December 23, that she had received $10 for two days' pay.

The witness replied that that $10 was for a Christmas present and not for two days' pay.

Q.—You think the $10 mentioned on the 23rd day of December was a Christmas present and not your wages. A.—Yes.

Q.—Can you tell when the General Drug Company was formed? A.—No.

Q.—If the records should show it was formed after the Adams Drug Company would that refresh your recollection as to when you went to work A.—I know I went to work in September. The incorporation papers might have been put through before.

Q.—Who was the Mr. Adams of the Adams Drug Co. A.—That was Louis C. Adams.

Q.—If I should tell you that the president of the General Drug Company was L. C. Adams, would that change your recollection? A.—No, the man I met with Mr. Swendeman was Hurth Adams. He was a salesman for the J. W. Maguire Company.

Q.—Mr. Swendeman said you were to come to work for the General Drug Company? A.—I don't remember that he said it was the General Drug Company. He said to come to work, that they were going to start a chain of drug stores.

Q.—Would it surprise you to learn that William J. Corcoran was never an officer in the concern? A.—Yes, it would.

Q.—Or that Leo Corcoran was never an officer in it? A.—I didn't say he was.

Q.—Who did you say were the officers of the General Drug Company? A.—My recollection is that William J. Corcoran was one. He was president.

Q.—You might be mistaken? A.—Yes, I have been mistaken—I have made mistakes.

Q.—You said Harry F. Levenson was a director. A.—My recollection is that he was a director.

Q.—Your recollection of that is as certain as it is that William J. Corcoran was president? A.—Yes.

Q.—Shall you ever write letters to Mr. Corcoran asking his advice as an attorney? You wouldn't say you didn't, would you? A.—No

Q.—You said Robert Bottomley was an officer didn't you? A.—I thought he was.

DESCRIBES OFFICE

Q.—Who was treasurer? A.—Mr. Sprecklin.

Q.—Who was secretary? A.—I think Michael J. Lyons.

Q.—I'll ask you to describe the offices? A.—There was an entrance to the hall and a small room, and as a reception room, to the left of that was a large directors' room and to the right was one in which were my desk and Mr Swendeman's desk

Q.—When you testified of the conversation in which you said that shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning William J. Corcoran, Michael J. Lyons, J. Warren Kane and one or two others came in, you meant it was nearer to 9 o'clock than to 9:30 o'clock? A.—I won't say 9, but it was shortly after.

Q.—They were in the directors' room? A.—Yes.

Q.—You were in your own office? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you heard the others talking? A.—Yes.

Q.—And both doors were closed? A.—Yes.

SURE OF "SHAKEDOWN"

Q.—And you heard their conversation? A.—Some of it, yes.

Q.—And you told Mr. Hill as much of the conversation as you heard? A.—Yes.

Q.—You remember you said, "I don't remember the exact words but the substance was they were going to shake someone down for a large sum of money"? A.—Yes

Q.—They didn't say who they were going to shake down, did they? A.—No.

Q.—Do you know where William J. Corcoran was at the time? A.—I know he was in the directors' room.

Q.—Did you see the man who said "I think there is going to be a snakedown?" A.—I didn't see him when he was saying it.

Q.—The only word that stands out in your mind is 'shakedown?' A.—in substance.

Q.—It might have been some other phrase which you took to be shakedown? A.—Yes, to mean the same thing.

Q.—You don't say the man used the word "shakedown?" A.—I would not say that.

Q.—You judge it was shakedown? A.—I knew it meant shakedown.

SAME PEOPLE

Q.—You said to Mr. Hill "a large amount of money," but you can't say how much? A.—I said "a large amount of money."

Q.—Did they say when or where it was going to take place? A.—No.

Q.—If the records of the Adams Drug Company show that the first meeting was Nov. 28, 1919, and that on Jan. 14, 1920 the stockholders voted to change the name to the General Drug Company, would that change your testimony as to which

THERESA DUGGAN.

Above is the record card for the safety deposit box in the International Trust Company, which Mrs. Duggan hired after James L. Donovan had paid $17,500 to be cleared of the "mess" of being caught in her room at No. 30 Buckminster street, which address is crossed out on the card. Theresa, in her "confession", said that she received $3,000 of the sum which was paid to Attorney Levenson. The record shows that the rent was to commence July 1, 1919, for one year at the rate of $10. It gives her birthplace as Montreal, Canada, and her mother's name as Margaret Howlett. The new address is No. 24 Dawes street, Dorchester. She made about a score of visits to the box, a former bank employe testified.

concern you worked for? A.—I worked for them both.

Q.—If the records show that the General Drug Company didn't come into existence until 1920, would that help you to change your testimony as to what company you worked for on Boylston street? A.—Well, I worked for a drug company. I know the names of the companies changed but the people I worked for were the same.

Q.—Did you take the records of the meetings? A.—I didn't take them down.

Q.—Did you type the records of the General Drug Company into their books. A.—I think I did.

Q.—Have you any recollection that on March 11, 1920 there was received by you in behalf of the General Drug Company a certificate from the State of Maine of the General Drug Company? A.—I don't recollect any.

FOR DRUG COMPANY

Q.—Was the place furnished—was the furniture there when you went there? A.—I think it came while I was there.

Q.—You never assumed that you were working for any other than the General Drug Company? A.—I knew I was working for a drug company.

Q.—I'll show you a certificate from F. W. Cook, secretary of the Commonwealth and ask you to look it over and read it to yourself. Having read that has it refreshed your recollection as to the time you entered the employment of the General Drug Company? A.—My recollection is just the same.

Q.—So you still say you were in the employ of the General Drug Company in September, October and November of 1919? A.—My best recollection is that I was.

Q.—Despite that certificate? A.—Yes, that's my best recollection.

Q.—Is the rest of your recollection with reference to the conversations you have testified to as accurate as your testimony with reference to your employment? A.—To the best of my recollection.

Mrs. Lyons was shown a plan of the offices of the General Drug Company.

Q.—You recognize that writing? A.—It looks like Mr. Swendeman's.

Q.—It's a fair representation in your mind of the offices of the General Drug Company? A.—Yes

DRAWS A PLAN

The cross examination of Mrs. Lyons became so animated that a court officer had to bring her a glass of water and counsel for both sides stood at her elbow as she sat in the witness chair.

Attorney Walsh directed the witness to draw a plan of the General Drug Company's office.

Judge Quinn reminded the counsel and jury that Mrs. Lyons' sketch was roughly made, without attempt at scale or measurements.

Mrs. Lyons smiled while she outlined the plan.

Q.—Who is 'F. J. S.?' A.—That means 'Frank J. Swendeman.'

Q.—You testified that he had a desk in the same room as you at the General Drug Company. A.—Yes.

Q.—Where was your desk? A.—Against the wall in the corner.

Q.—Where was Mr. Swendeman's desk? A.—Against a door which was kept locked.

Q.—Were you in at your desk when you claimed to overhear the conversation of those in the directors' room? A.—Yes.

SURE IT WAS CORCORAN

Q.—Didn't you state you thought it was Corcoran whom you heard speak? A.—I will say that I know it was Corcoran.

Q.—You testified concerning two conversations? A.—Yes.

Q.—You stated that the first one was about four or six weeks after you went to work there? A.—Yes.

Q.—Now when did you hear the second one, in which you claim you heard Kane? A.—On the same day.

AS MRS. PERRIN

Mrs. Lyons, asked what her name was before she was married replied that it was Crockett.

Q.—Were you known as Mrs. H. L. Perrin? A.—Yes.

Q.—Is that the Perrin who was secretary to Godfrey L. Cabot? A.—Yes.

Witness denied she had talked over the case with Mr. Perrin or Mr. Cabot.

Q.—Were you approached by anybody from the attorney general's office in relation to this case? A.—Yes.

Q.—When was that? A.—In November, 1921.

Q.—From whom did you receive any word? A.—Mr. Hale and Mr. Mitchell called to see me.

Q.—Where were you? A.—I was working at the Morgan Detective Agency.

Q.—Before that did you receive any word from Mr. Swendeman? A.—I don't think so.

Q.—Hadn't you received a letter from Mr. Swendeman? A.—I received a letter.

HAD BEEN IN JAIL

Q.—Where was he? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Was this before Hale and Mitchell saw you? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Was it before you were married? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was Swendeman in Concord Reformatory? A.—He was not.

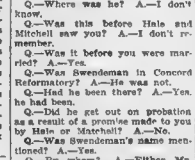
Q.—Had he been there? A.—Yes, he had been.

Q.—Did he get out on probation as a result of a promise made to you by Hale or Mitchell? A.—No.

Q.—Was Swendeman's name mentioned? A.—Yes.

Q.—By whom? A.—Either Mr. Hale or Mr. Mitchell.

Q.—They told you they had already talked with Mr. Hill?



The word "shakedown" at the meeting stood out vividly in Mrs. Lyons' memory.

A.—Yes.

Q.—You don't say the man used the word "shakedown?" A.—I would not say that.

Q.—You judge it was shakedown? A.—I knew it meant shakedown.

SAME PEOPLE

Q.—You said to Mr. Hill "a large amount of money," but you can't say how much? A.—I said "a large amount of money."

Q.—Did they say when or where it was going to take place? A.—No.

Q.—If the records of the Adams Drug Company show that the first meeting was Nov. 28, 1919, and that on Jan. 14, 1920 the stockholders voted to change the name to the General Drug Company, would that change your testimony as to which ready talked with Mr. Mitchell, didn't they? A.—I don't recall.

Can't Recall

Q.—Did you go to Concord with Hale or Mitchell? A.—No.

Q.—You received a letter from Swendeman when he was in Concord, didn't you? A.—No.

Q.—You wouldn't say that Mitchell didn't tell you that if you assisted the government in this case he would assist in getting the parole of Mr. Swendeman? A.—I don't recall.

Q.—You wouldn't say that he didn't? A.—I don't recall.

Q.—Where did you talk with Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Hale? A.—They talked with me in the office of the Morgan Detective Agency

Q.—Didn't they tell you they had seen Swendeman in Concord? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Didn't they tell you he was there? A.—I knew he was there.

Q.—Who told you? A.—I think it was Mr. Sprecklin.

Q.—When Mitchell came to see you did he say anything with reference to the fact that if you made a statement for the government, Swendeman would be paroled? A.—I would say he did.

Q.—Do you recall Swendeman was paroled? A.—Yes.

MET SWENDEMAN

Q.—Did you meet him? A.—Yes, in the street one morning.

Q.—Could you describe this affair with him? A.—I wouldn't say that I did or did not.

Incorporation papers and minutes of the Corcoran drug concern were then introduced. Mrs. Lyons admitted she had erred as to dates concerning the company.

She retracted testimony that Corcoran's drug company had preceded the Adams Drug Company. Corcoran's name did not appear in either company's minutes.

On December 9, 1919 it was revealed Kane had resigned as director of the Adams Company. It was not until more than a month later that the General Drug Company came into being, absorbing the Adams Company. The witness testified that she had worked for both companies.

Mrs. Lyons was subjected to a grilling as to her friendship with Swendeman. Attorneys attempted to reveal that she had gone to the Attorney-General's Office to give information concerning Corcoran and the alleged Blackmail Ring in exchange for having Swendeman paroled from Concord Reformatory, to which he was sentenced on June 14.

to Godfrey L. Cabot but said she had never talked over the Corcoran matter with him.

Attorney Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for Kane, cross-examined Mrs. LYons

Q.—You were in the same office with Swendeman? A.—Yes.

Q.—And some of these men you have mentioned came in off and on?

A.—Yes

Q.—Was the door closed on the day you heard the conversation? A.—It was open.

Q.—Was Swendeman there that day? A.—I presume so.

Q.—Who made the remark that you testified to? A.—William J. Corcoran.

Q.—Are you positive? A.—Yes.

BRIG.-GEN. SWEETSER IS OPERATED UPON

Brig. Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser, chairman of the State Department of Labor and Industries, went to the Elliot Hospital on Audubon road today where he will undergo an operation for relief from an old injury received.

While in command of Massachusetts troops on the Mexican border in 1916 one dark night, his horse brushed against a barbed wire fence and, in shying almost dislodged his rider from the saddle. The general finally brought his mount under control after a bucking exhibition during which General Sweetser was half thrown landing athwart the saddle horn and receiving painful internal bruises. He never fully recovered but it is expected the operation will afford him relief.

J. ADAM BEDE GIVES PARENTS A LACING

Omaha, Nov. 2.—Too much time is being wasted in hating and not enough time in loving, former Congressman J. Adams Bede, of Minnesota declared here before the annual meeting of school teachers.

"It is high time that the mothers and fathers of America got back on their home base and performed their part in the instruction," he said. "Mother sleeper the children off to school at 8.30 in the morning, fearful that she will be late at the club. Father does not have time to read the Bible and discovering that he can't be a preacher to do his praying, has forgotten how to pray."

SWEDEN'S FOREIGN MINISTER TO QUIT

Stockholm, Nov. 2.—Foreign Minister Hederstjerna, it is now definitely announced, has telegraphed to King Gustave his intention of resigning as soon as the King returns from England, where he has gone for the marriage of the Crown Prince. The Minister's decision is due to the press campaign waged against him since he declared in favor of a defensive alliance between Sweden and Finland against possible Russian aggression.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Jad Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't 'doctor' and prepare to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to rouse the body's waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often revealing bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep it up by drinking, and no doubt you'll wonder what became of your trouble and backache. By all means give your physician examination at least twice a year.

"RADIO CHASED ME," RELATES LLOYD GEORGE

New York, Nov. 1.—New York was chuckling today over Lloyd George's quiet humor in his address at the Lotos Club. Departing from the usual tenor of his addresses in the United States and Canada in which he had emphasized tht the future of civilization depends upon Britain and America working side by side, the former Premier spoke in lighter vein of observations on his tour and had his audience in stitches most of the time.

"I believe the radio and amplifier are going to revolutionize public speaking," he said. "I believe they will circumscribe the activities of politicians and give them a little more time to think of what they are going to say.

TERROR TO SPEAKERS.

"I delivered a speech, I think, in Indianapolis. I got a telegram the following day from Texas from somebody that had been listening to me. I think that was adding a terror to the business. I was driving along the streets of Cleveland and I could hear a voice which seemed to be following me around wherever I went, and I found they were testing out the amplifiers for the speech I was to deliver.

Lloyd George said he believed it was Chauncey M. Depew, who related that when Daniel found himself in the lions' den he said, "At any rate I will not have to deliver an after-dinner speech."

LESSON FROM U. S.

The guest told how when England was in the throes of a great constitutional struggle with regard to the powers of the second chamber the leaders of the Conservative and the Liberal parties met in conference, and he invitation Dr. Murray Butler met with them

"He gave us," said Lloyd George, "a full account of the powers of your Senate, a very truthful account of the relations between the Senate and the House of Representatives, and we decided not to risk it."

Mr. Lloyd George spent the greater part of this morning in putting the finishing touches to his farewell speech to America, to be delivered at the Metropolitan Opera House tonight.

BEGIN CHECKUP OF ALCOHOL PERMITS

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—In line with Governor Pinchot's suggestion for halting bootlegging activities, federal prohibition agents today began a check-up on the permits of manufacturers of alcohol for governmental license. All manufacturers in the Eastern Pennsylvania district were required to send a list of customers to the office of Reuben R. Sims, divisional enforcement chief, who declared that much of the denatured alcohol manufactured by these plants had found its way into the hands of the bootleggers.

WILL RADIO WILSON'S PEACE DAY SPEECH

Washington, Nov. 2.—Arrangements have been made to broadcast by radio the speech Woodrow Wilson will deliver at his 8 street home on Armistice Day, when a group of his admirers are to call on him to pay their respects. The subject matter of the address has not been disclosed, but some of those concerned with plans for the occasion believe the former President may discuss current public questions, including the international situation.

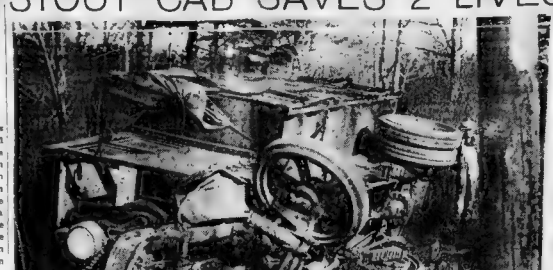
STOUT CAB SAVES 2 LIVES



NEW TRUCK LAID LOW BY TELEGRAPH POLE

With a full load of furniture, this truck's steering gear went wrong and smashed into a telegraph pole on the Newburyport turnpike. The owners were in the truck, and to the stoutness of the cab in which they were seated, they owe their lives.

TRUCK SMASHES POLE; OWNERS ESCAPE DEATH

A five-ton motor truck, owned by Stover & Kimball truckmen, of York Harbor, Me., was wrecked on the Newburyport turnpike in Lynnfield today, about a quarter of a mile south of the scene of the fatal accident yesterday, where one man was killed and two others seriously injured.

The truck was loaded with furniture and was driven by O. C. Stover. His partner, F. H. Kimball, was on the seat with him. Both men said that they owed their lives to the fact that the driver's seat is in a stout cab, which did not crumble when the truck side-swiped a telegraph pole and turned on its side.

Stover said after the accident that the truck left York Harbor at 1:20 a. m. today to deliver a load of furniture in Boston. The truck, which was a new one, worked well until it reached the scene of the accident, when the steering gear cramped and the truck ran off the concrete pavement into the soft ground at the side of the road. Before he could stop it struck a pole with the left front wheel, careened off and came to rest on its right side.

A truck driven by Joseph Santo of No. 77 Mill street, Revere, collided on Broadway, near the State boulevard, Revere, with the touring car driven by Harry Clayman of No. 69 Chester avenue, Chelsea, damaging both machines slightly. Neither man was injured. Clayman was arrested after the accident on the charge of operating without a license.

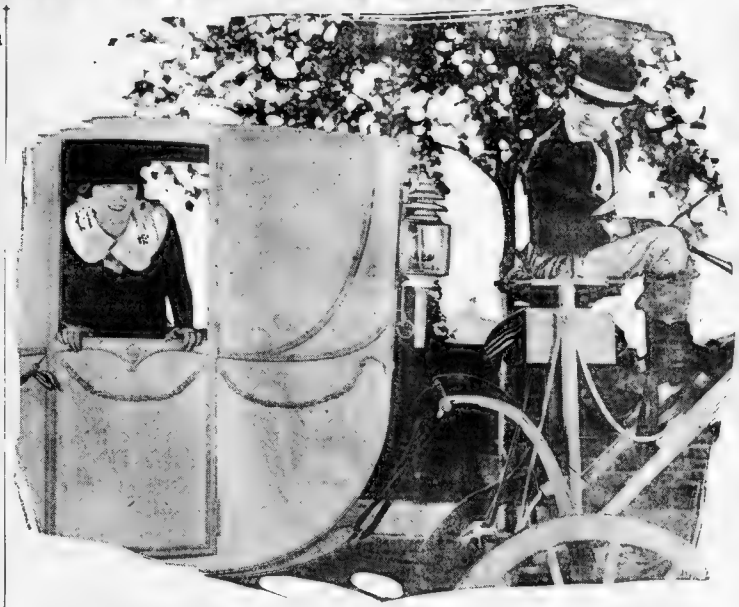
LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

This Story Will Be Shown Soon in Motion Pictures Starring Marion Davies at One of Your Favorite Theatres in Boston



Pat (Marion Davies) drives off in the Schuyler coach to get $10,000 from Astor for Delavan

THE STORY SO FAR:

Larry Delavan, a fashionable young man in the days when Fulton was perfecting his steamboat in New York, expects that his stepfather will leave him his large fortune. When John Jacob Astor reads the will he discovers that all the property goes to a nephew, Patrick O'Day, in Ireland. Astor is made trustee and Larry guardian of the heir. Delavan is terribly disappointed. The O'Day family is about to be evicted from their cottage home in Ireland, when a strange solicitor appears and [illegible] all their good fortune, Patricia, dies on the trip, and her brother, who dies on the trip, and her father, arrive in New York. Delavan becomes interested in Robert Fulton's steamboat and promises $10,000 of the expenses. Pat acts queerly for a boy, but Delavan does not suspect. Pat's father dies, making her swear never to reveal her identity to Delavan. Pat tries to get the $10,000 from Astor for Delavan. Bully Boy Brewster begs Larry to back him in a prizefight.

SHEVLIN MORE DETERMINED THAN EVER
Eddie Shevlin, New England welterweight champion, will strive harder for victory than ever before when he mingles with George Ward at the Arena tonight. Shevlin is not only eager to avenge the "sneak" blow, but he also wants to keep in the big money.

SHEVLIN AND WARD FIT FOR 'SNEAK' PUNCH BOUT TONIGHT

RIVALS TO STRIVE FOR KAYO AT ARENA

By JACK CONWAY.

Eddie Shevlin, the determined, aggressive, two-handed fighter, will oppose George Ward, celebrated Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, in the feature bout of ten rounds at the Suffolk A. A.'s show at the Boston Arena tonight.

Shevlin will forget he was ever considered a master boxer and the most gentlemanly person in the ring. He will go back to caveman methods as he tries to get revenge for the "sneak" punch Ward delivered in their last tussle. The New England welterweight champion believes in fighting fire with fire.

Those who saw Shevlin in his last tussle with Ward can well understand why he is called the Dr Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of the ring. Outside of the ring, Eddie is the most gracious young man you could wish to meet.

He has usually maintained his gracious manner until after he has shaken hands with an opponent. He did this in his last tussle with Ward only to be hit by a "sneak" wallop.

The fighting Shevlin forgets to the front once the bout gets under way. Eddie is then grim and determined, bent on winning as quickly as possible.

SHEVLIN IS POSSESSED OF A FIGHTING HEART.

This is why Shevlin has been such a great fighter over a period of ten years. He has what the ring experts term a "fighting heart." Great in victory, the New England champion shows to even better advantage after he has been stung by the power of his opponent's blows and he has his back against the wall.

In the second round of his last contest with Ward, Shevlin gave one of the most sensational exhibitions of fighting ever seen in Boston. True, he violated some of the rules of the finite game as he battered Ward around the ring. He was not cautioned by Referee Jack Sheehan, as the latter probably figured that Ward had started the rough stuff by his "sneak" wallop.

The bout was so close that one of the judges ruled for Shevlin, while the other judge and referee decided in favor of Ward. Shevlin claimed after the match that he would have won if it had not been for Ward's "sneak" blow. He said he was groggy for several rounds as a result of this sash.

SHEVLIN AND WARD IN BEST OF CONDITION.

The rival boxers are in remarkably fine condition for tonight's contest. Ward, accompanied by Sam Golden, his manager, arrived in Boston confident in his ability to win decisively.

"I shall not only defeat Shevlin tonight, but shall also knock him out," declared Ward. "Furthermore, I admit I pulled the 'sneak' punch in our last tussle. I shall do it again this evening if I can. Let Shevlin come out fighting or suffer the consequences of his carelessness."

Golden stated that Ward is right now at the peak of his fighting form.

"If Ward wins over Shevlin, we shall be prepared to take on Jack Malone," declared Golden. "George is fighting in the best form of his career. He is punching with deadly effect. I feel he will stop Shevlin at the Suffolk Club's show at the Arena tonight."

On account of the rivalry between Shevlin and Ward, it appears as though tonight's encounter would develop into a slugging match. All of which should please the fans.

ALONE AND SHADE READY TO BOX VICTOR.
The winner won't have difficulty in getting bouts. Both Jack Malone and Dave Shade will be prepared to take on the man who leaves the ring a triumph this p m.

There should be plenty of action in the semi-final of eight rounds with Wolf Larsen, kayo king, and Silas Green of this city swapping blows. Larsen has had some easy sledding of late, but will have to step lively if he is to win over Green. The latter [illegible] could also [illegible] Battling Mulcahy, Lew Arnold, Leo Dunlap, Lew Sky and George Roberson.

Two will box in a couple of eight-round bouts. Louis Rose of East Boston will indulge with Terry McManus of Roxbury, while Harry Gaia of New York will try conclusions with Joe Roderick of Cambridge.

The Suffolk A. A. office at No 300 Washington street reports there are still plenty of choice reservations left.

Jack Conway Picks Ward; Shevlin Now Can Cop Award

Jack Conway, holder of the world's record for picking winners, shuffles the dope sheets once more and says:

"I am naming George Ward to win over Eddie Shevlin in their "sneak" punch battle at the Suffolk A. A.'s show at the Arena tonight. I am picking Ward with just about the same amount of confidence a man without any securities has when he parades into the private office of one of our State street bankers in quest of a big loan.

"It seems that whenever I pick Shevlin to win he loses and when I name him to lose he grabs the decision. I wouldn't be surprised if he tipped my dope over again tonight.

"I think Shevlin will fight with greater determination and vim this evening than he ever has before. He is out to avenge Ward's "sneak" blow.

"Wolf Larsen is our choice over Silas Green. Wolf will realize he's been in a regular quarrel as Green is tough and rugged."

Jack has picked 122 winners out of a possible 144.

DREW TO FIGHT CHAPMAN ON NOV. 9

Johnny Drew of Worcester, who will clash with "Red" Chapman of Chelsea, at Mechanics Building, Friday evening, Nov. 9, will forfeit $500 if he fails to make 128 lbs.

Chapman weighs only 126 lbs. and he will have no trouble in making the required poundage, but always there has been doubt about Drew's weight.

TUFTS TO WORK IN STADIUM TODAY

In order to get accustomed to conditions in the Stadium, the Tufts gridiron squad will have a short workout there this afternoon. They will start shortly after 1 o'clock and will work until 2:45.

Coach Eddie Casey has pointed his eleven for this game against the Crimson all season and is leaving no stone unturned to assure success.

Phelan's Kicking May Pin Defeat on Everett

By FRED C. LANE

What may be the first defeat after a fine string of victories or the blazing of a path to the championship of the Suburban League takes place tomorrow when Everett High sends its undefeated eleven against Medford High.

Everett's performances on the gridiron this year have been meritorious. They have won five games against stiff opposition and blanked all their opponents.

The question is, can they overcome the drop-kicking of Dick Phelan of the Medford team, who is the best kicker in scholastic circles.

Though Medford's record is not so good, there is a formidable team. They lost to Brockton in an early season contest.

Coach Mansfield sent in a sub team for experience as the score was in Medford's favor. They had hardly made their appearance on the field before Brockton started a drive that resulted in a score and victory.

BROOKLINE LED AND THREW A SCARE

Brookline threw a scare in the Medford ranks last Saturday. They led a good part of the time until Phelan came in with a drop kick from the 37-yard line that put his team even with the opposition.

Coach Brickley of Everett High is now reaping the result of three years' hard work. He has uncovered two ends in Captain Bud Terrio and Elmer Munroe who have raised havoc with the opposing backfields.

They have developed the forward passing game to a degree that makes them dangerous all the time. The backfield is lighter than the average yet can hold its end with any team in the league.

EDDIE BOND IS PLAYING HIS LAST SEASON.

Eddie Bond is playing his last season as a schoolboy. "Jit" Taylor is a dangerous player skirting the ends. Nick Carobbo, Emo Ashton and Lester Jacobson make up the remaining members of the ball carrying brigade that has proved so steady to the opposition.

The tackle positions have been rore spots in the team's play.

A vacancy was left in the centre of the line when "Bud" Mason shifted to B. C. High. Convery stepped into this breach and filled the bill to the queen's taste. His passing has been accurate at all times. That makes him valuable.

Medford has a veteran in every position. Only one sub was lost.

YALE'S VARSITY PLAYS WITH FRESHMEN

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 2—Yale has had its meeting for the Army classic and the enthusiasm bordered on mild hysteria. Ted Coy said to the students

Don't figure if we shall win, but how much shall we win by."

Gilman

There were no bananas in town, but there was plenty of Yale money offered at ten to seven, while many bets are being placed on the number of touchdowns by which old Eli will defeat the Jackeared mule.

For the first time this year the freshmen lined up against the varsity. The practice so far as the freshmen were concerned, consisted only of a signal drill as it was on the eve of their departure for Princetown to meet the Tiger cubs. The freshmen leave today and will stop in Trenton tonight previous to going down to the jungle.

Britton Fights Shoal

The Armory A. A. has matched Jack Britton and Frankie Schoal, of Buffalo for Nov. 20, at Mechanics Building.

TONY THOMAS TO BOX AL PETTINGILL

Tony Thomas, who claims to be the real New England bantam weight champion, is to meet Al Pettingill, the Southern flyweight champion, in Lowell next Thursday night.

Thomas, after having a good rest, is now ready to meet all comers and stands ready to defend his title against any boy in New England who thinks that he has a claim on the title.

MANTY AND FOX IN WOONSOCKET BOUT

Charley Manty of New Bedford and Joe Fox, English boxer, will swap blows in a ten round bout at the Coliseum A. C. of Woonsocket tonight. The semi final of eight sessions will bring together Mickey Devine of Providence and Young Hadow of Woonsocket. Hibere will also be a couple of sixes.

Player's, the international cigarette, is sold in your city. Be sure to try them. Great!

MAYBE HARVARD WILL SURPRISE 'EM
All of the experts are unanimous in stating that Yale will not have any difficulty in winning over Harvard in their struggle on the gridiron. If you will study the dope sheets, you will find that the dear old experts have occasionally been wrong. Perhaps Harvard will give them another jolt.

DARTMOUTH'S BIG CHANCE
Football interest in New England centres upon the clash between Dartmouth and Cornell at Hanover tomorrow. If the conquerors of Harvard can also triumph over the eleven from Ithaca, they will have plenty of cause for cheering.

EDDIE CASEY, TUFTS COACH, STANDS ON BRINK OF FAME

HIS ELEVEN MAY BEAT HARVARD

By NICK FLATLEY

Eddie Casey is right on the brink of more football fame than he ever collected on the gridiron when he was one of Harvard's greatest backfield stars. If Eddie's Tufts team can beat the Crimson on the morrow, the Natick youth will be heralded far and wide as one of those wonder coaches.

Plenty of money as well as reputation will be his, also, as the wealthy colleges of the land, whose teams get socked, just naturally send the dollars out paging new coaches for football reform, which, when you analyze it, means constant victory.

EDDIE HAS THE KNACK OF TEACHING

Whether he wins or loses, Eddie is one of those wee directors of the gridiron. He has the knack of teaching what he knows, which is the stamp of the real instructor. He has accomplished miracles over in Medford, when you stop to figure what he's up against.

His squad is one of the smallest of any of the colleges. Many of his candidates are day students in town, with mighty little time for practice, or anything but study.

It takes somebody who can distribute real inspiration to persuade studious boys to trail out into the suburbs, and get banged around, after a long scrimmage with the text books.

The Tufts team is hampered by restrictions and things to the nth degree. It's a small college outfit, in the real sense of the word but it's far from being a puny affair on the gridiron, and you must hand the credit to Casey.

He has won three games in a row, all of which loomed as possible defeats before the action started, and nobody will be greatly surprised if the Jumbos take a big fall out of the crocky Harvard array.

PROMISES TO BE INTERESTING FOR ALL.

The conflict promises to be very interesting for all Cambridges experts. It will be a battle of Harvard football, with a Tufts team well drilled and ready to go, against a Crimson eleven that hasn't found any part of its real ability as yet.

Tufts has both speed and power, attached to the Casey inspiration we have mentioned, and that's quite a combination for any man's team to beat.

The Stadium invaders have kickers able to hold their own with Hammond, or whoever else boots for Fisher, and they have shown much more ability with the open and passing game than the Big Three entry.

JUMBOS HAVE A BIG, FAST LINE.

The Jumbos have a big fast line, and a couple of the niftiest backs in the East, and unless injuries clog up the program for them, Harvard is in for a very interesting and entertaining, as well as rugged afternoon.

There will be likewise plenty of excitement and action at Braves Field, while Boston College and Georgetown are having their annual scuffle. From the spectator's standpoint, the Eagle collisions with the two big rivals, Holy Cross and Georgetown, are about the best there are.

THEY POINT FOR THESE GAMES

The teams point for these games, pretty much to the exclusion of all others, and there are no love pats exchanged at any time.

Georgetown has had a rather poor early season, but figures to regain accounted for most of the trouble. The entire varsity is in for most for this fray, though and B. C., with several stars on the sidelines, has a real fight just beyond the next sunrise.

While the fans all world is waiting with baited, and perhaps baited breath for the return from Dartmouth, where the Yale's little may be hanging in the balance, a lot of attention will be directed to the Yale Bowl, where the big Blue tries to repel the Army assault.

YALE WILL MEET REAL COMPETITION

Yale, by sheer power, has battered down all opponents thus far, but meets real competition from the soldiers. The Army is just as powerful, and the glory of the afternoon should go to the team that displays the most versatility.

Thus far Yale has uncovered no offense to speak of, except the straight line crushing brand. That will not go against the Army, which was able to turn the Notre Dame attack, until the boys from the West opened things up.

Stanley Stasiak Is a Winner Over Buck Stone

Stanley Stasiak defeated Buck Stone in two straight falls in the main mat bout at the Grand Opera House.

The Polish Lion took the first fall in 41 min 45 seconds with a double arm bar and top scissors and the second in 21 minutes with a top scissors and an arm lock.

Nick Bosines beat Ed Collins of Littleton, N. H., in 27 minutes 30 seconds with an arm lock and a scissors.

Jack Albright, grappler, spilled Joe Zbyszky with a body lift and slam in the semi-final.

TUOHEY HAS AN ALL-STAR MAT CARD NOV. 29

An all-star carnival of three fine matches will mark the resumption of wrestling activities by George V. Tuohye, who will open his season on Thanksgiving night in Mechanics Building.

George V. Tuohey

On the programme will appear some of the new foreign stars who made such a great hit in New York the other night, paired against men of established reputation in America and in Boston especially.

Tuohey will follow his long established rule of positive finish contests regardless of time

The Stadium invaders have kickers able to hold their own with Hammond, or whoever else boots for Fisher, and they have shown much more ability with the open and passing game than the Big Three entry.

Amherst, Nov. 2.—Coach McLaughry led his Amherst football charges through the customary stiff practice in preparation for the game with Wesleyan, tomorrow.

Jack Conway to Give Talk on Boxing to War Heroes

Jack Conway, boxing and wrestling editor of the Boston American, who has shattered all world's records for picking winners, will give a talk on boxing and other sports before the Roxbury Post, No. 44, of the American Legion at its clubhouse in the Norfolk House, Roxbury, on next Monday night. Commander Albert J. Carey has asked Jack to devote part of his talk to revealing the "inside" dope on the Dempsey-Firpo bout.

JAKE SCHAEFER WINS FROM CONTI

New York, Nov. 2. Young Jake Schaefer scored his second in the International championship match by defeating Conti, champion of France, 500 to 343. It was the third defeat for Conti and eliminated him.

Schaefer set a new high mark for high run in the contest with Lee Lewis this great French crowd of collections of 60 and 67 and had an average of 21.20.24.

Bolivian Giant May Fight Against Luis Firpo

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 2.—Luis Angel Firpo, the "wild bull of the pampas," has been invited to fight a Bolivian Indian giant names Camacho, who is declared to resemble the description of the "ape man," given by the naturalists.

With a height of seven feet, two inches, and an arm spread of eight feet, a formidable punch and great agility, the giant is said to be a perfect specimen of the natural fighting man.

New York Stock Prices More Up Than Down After Making a Mixed Start

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

We may kick about the price of coal, about high rents, about dear clothing, about the costliness of amusements; but we have not reason to complain about what we have to pay for meat.

After all, most of us do enjoy a juicy steak, a rasher of bacon, a tender pork chop. Now, the fact that these staple and substantial articles of food are about the cheapest thing we can buy today, like automobiles, they have not advanced in line with prices for most of the necessities of life.

Since meat, in one form or another, figures in the menu of most of families, I made up my mind, during my recent trip westward, to find out just how meat prices compare with other staples entering into the cost of living. The facts go far to explain why there has this year been a substantial increase in the consumption of meats—and why it might be added, there has been more or less dissatisfaction among stockraisers over the prices obtained for their animals.

Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Company, kindly took the trouble to get together the main facts and figures for readers of this column.

Said Mr. Swift: "Meat is one of the staple foods and always will be. Wholesale prices have fallen from the high levels reached during the war year, but in some instances, they are now below the 1913 level, and, taken all together, they are only slightly above the pre-war level. When compared with the prices of other foods and all commodities combined, meat is an economical food."

Getting down to figures, Mr. Swift furnished the following comparison drawn from the records of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics "The wholesale price of all commodities was 59 per cent above 1913 the first eight months of 1923, on the average

"The average wholesale price of all foods was 43 per cent above 1913, for the same period

"But the average wholesale price of beef and pork was only slightly above 1913. Take the wholesale price of good native steer beef at Chicago, for instance. Beef took a sold for cent case form at 13 cents per pound on the average for 1913 and at 14 cents per pound during the first eight months of 1923. This is an increase of only 15 per cent, in stead of 59 per cent, as in the case of all commodities, or 42 per cent, as in the case of all foods."

A carefully compiled chart reveals that beef and pork have been lower than other foods and the average price of all commodities for the last three and one half years. During the last twelve months the prices of both pork, lamb and mutton passed the federal investment index number of 200 per cent above the pre-war twelve months.

Do you see that the price has been too great a burden for you only in the case of meat, but the people in the United States, and, indeed, in every other country, to have their purchasing power reduced as much as it has to point out that the cost of living and figures? That is why you haven't been able to save more. You have to do the best you can with the income of this or that member of the people a little more from various parts of the country.

* * *

We have been hearing more than our share of the blessings of Providence in the past month about that

DUN'S FINDS WOOL MARKET ACTIVE

H. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly trade review, in this week's issue, will say regarding trade conditions in Boston

The wool market has been fairly active, but with little change in quotations. Knitting yarns haveb een moving fairly well, but other worsted numbers hve been quiet. Prices tend to firmness in the cotton yarns are advancing in price, and the demand has increased enough there is a little forward buying.

The outlook in cotton piece goods has not improved, and most of the gingham mills have closed. Prices in most lines continue lower, however.

While New Eng and shoe manufacturers are still operating the factories to a high degree, more than is generally the case in other parts of the country, orders are now coming in somewhat more slowly.

The lumber market is quiet, with a few exceptions, the demand being light. Building lumber is firm, with a moderate demand. Prices in hemlocks are holding with fairly savory orders coming in

MISS FAZENDA IS MODERN PIED PIPER

LOUISE FAZENDA has become a modern Pied Piper—but cats instead of rats that have her. Lanes is sharing honors with a tamed seal of "The Chalkeyes Farm." To train Freddie, the seal, to follow her about the docile pet, she keeps fish concealed about her. And now, whenever she goes home, she is followed by all the cats in the neighborhood.

LON CHANEY, who is appearing in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" at Tremont Temple, has been engaged to appear in a feature role in "The Next Corner," which is soon to be produced. Conway Tearle and Dorothy Mackaill are also to be featured in the picture. It was Chaney's artistic work in "The Hunchback" that won for him a place in the Next Corner."

LUCILLE RICKSEN, who is now with Goldwyn, has the unique distinction among screen folk in that she has "tapped" work in four pictures. "Tapping means "tapping" means being on one's next picture before finishing a previous one. Beginning with "Judgment of Storm," she lapped into "Human Wreckage;" then into "The Rendezvous" and then into Jack Pickford's new feature, just completed, but still untitled.

MAY McAVOY and Dick Barthelmess are findin' it just as difficult to look ugly as some people find it to look beautiful. In their next picture Dick plays the part of a crippled veteran and May that of a plain, unhandsome English girl, both of whom are made beautiful in each other's eyes by their love for one another. They are spending many hours with makeup and posing for camera in an effort to appear suitably homely.

May Murray has completed her latest picture, "Fashion Row," and Mae Murray.

West coast critics have seen the picture in process of production say that Mae is a veritable fashion show all by herself. Her gowns, thirty in number, besides being bizarre as they are costly. Miss Murray, with Robert Z. Leonard, who directed the picture, have developed an original and what is said to be startling technique both in color and design.

ARCHIE HURLBURT BUYS FLORIDA RESORT

The well known and popular proprietor of Suntaug Inn at Lauderdale has recently purchased the Lakeview Inn and cottages at Mount Dora, Florida.

The inn is a homelike house accommodating about 100 guests and is surrounded by 5 acres of attractive grounds including tennis and croquet courts, boat house and pony room at the Lake's shore.

Mount Dora lies in the central part of Florida, 175 miles south of Jacksonville and twenty-four miles west of Sanford.

The high altitude insures a dry atmosphere, perfect drainage and pine scented breezes. A model yacht club, splendid roads, theatres, etc., are additional attractions for the winter visitors while sportsmen are insured splendid black bass fishing in the seven large connecting lakes, of which Lake Dora is one.

Daily train service is maintained between Jacksonville and Mount Dora.

NEW MANAGER FOR HOTEL BEACONSFIELD.

Announcement is made that Gilman M. Lougee, a well known New England hotel man, will manage the Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline's beautiful apartment hotel. Mr. Lougee is a hotel executive of exceptional calibre, having given many proofs of his exceptional ability in connection with the Statler, Touraine Hotels, the New Ocean House at Swampscott, which he has managed for several years, and the Titchfield Hotel, Port Antonio, Jamaica, which he has managed for the past three Winters for the United Fruit Company.

Mr. Lougee has the best wishes of his host of friends for every success in his new connection.

SEMINOLE CO. OPERATES ATTRACTIVE RESORTS

R. P. Foley, vice president and general manager of the Seminole Hotel Company, has just published a very attractive folder descriptive of his two hotels, the Seminole and the Virginia Inn, at Winter Park, Florida.

Winter Park has long been known as one of the most attractive and healthful resorts in Florida and the Seminole and Virginia Inn are exceptionally popular with a high class clientele.

Edward R. Grahow, general manager of the Passenger Department of the United Fruit Company, has arranged for a special cruise to Havana, Kingston, Cristobal, Port Antonio, Port Limon and other Caribbean ports and an enjoyable holiday on board the S. S. Pastores of the Great White Fleet. The Pastores will sail from New York on January 5 and the party will be composed of members of the Luncheon Club of Boston and their friends.

KARL P. ABBOTT BUYS CAMDEN HOTEL.

The Hotel Kirwood at Camden, South Carolina, formerly the property of T. Edmund Krumbhoiz who passed away last May, has been purchased by Mr. Karl P. Abbott, the well-known manager of the Profile House which is now being rebuilt at Franconia, N. H., and the Upland Terrace at Bethlehem, N. H.

The Kirkwood has long been known as one of the finest Winter resorts in the South and should enjoy increased popularity under Mr. Abbott's management.

NEW ALAMAC HOTEL TO PUBLIC NOV. 1.

The doors of the new Alamac Hotel, 71st street and Broadway, N. Y. were informally opened to the general public on Thursday, November 1. While the hotel will be in active operation following the informal opening, the real opening function will be held about November 8 or 9, when Mr. Harry Plate General Manager of the Alamac Hotel Company will give a dinner at which he has promised many surprises.

The Alamac is described as a "Twenty-Story Masterpiece of Modern Hotel Creation"—and the Alamac Hotel Company promises to the people of New York a hotel that "will be an asset to the city and a good servant, introducing service without a blemish and many features unique."

One of the features of Mr. Late's advertising campaign will be direct advertising by telephone which will cover a period of a year in which time more than 50 000 people will receive a personal telephone invitation to become acquainted with the Alamac's superior service.

PRIOR AT NEW YORK HORSE RACE

Mr. L. C. Prior, proprietor of the Lenox and Brunswick Hotels, has returned to Boston from a visit to the Metropolis of America which he attended the Zev-Papyrus match race at Belmont Park.

BOND RESTORES HOME OF HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

Excellent progress has been made in the restoration of the home of Harriet Beecher Stowe at 73 Forest st., Hartford, Conn., which was bought last spring by Harry S. Bond. Hartford's well known hotel man. Hartford was the center of a literary group represented by Mark Twain, Charles Dudley Warner, Harriet Beecher Stowe, William Dean Howells, Curtis, Stedman and others and Mr. Bond has become the custodian of one of America's literary shrines which owing to the splendid work of restoration will stand long after modern structures have fallen to pieces.

3-PLY CAMPAIGN TO DEPOSE WINSLOW

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Washington Nov. 2 (INS)—A three-fold campaign to break up the powerful House Congressional Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and to depose its chairman, Congressman Samuel E. Winslow of Massachusetts, is being organized here today.

In addition to having immediate jurisdiction over railroad legislation and coal, the committee shapes a score of other activities which affect the public's pocketbook. It is said to attract more attention from the lobbyists of the public service corporations than any other committee in Congress.

The three prong drive which will make a concerted drive against the committee and seek to reduce Winslow's influences are:

1—Hard Republicans and Progressive Democrats, headed by the La Follette House group from Wisconsin. They believe that Winslow and his associates are responsible for the Esch-Cummins anti-strike law which cannot never be diminished while he stays in power.

2—The advocates of anti-coal trust legislation, headed by three of Winslow's colleagues from Massachusetts, Congressmen Rogers, Luce and Treadway. Rogers declares that when coal was pouring into Canada during last year's fuel crisis in this country, Winslow acted as though he never had heard of a coal shortage.

Luce says he has to establish Federal standards against "fireproof coal" was allowed by Winslow to slumber in the committee since June, 1921. Treadway says he was unable to get any positive action of his effort to regulate the coal industry.

3—Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York and the World War veterans.

Fish and his supporters feel that a great deal of important legislation affecting the welfare of the disabled veterans will go before Winslow's committee and that if Winslow acts as adversely as they say he did last year the veterans can expect little relief.

These three groups want at least to see Winslow's committee split up. Two of them would prefer to have new committees created—one to handle coal legislation, another to take care of the disabled veterans.

ANTI-VACCINATION MEETING TONIGHT

night at a meeting of the Medical Liberty League at Symphony Hall, for the public condemnation of compulsory vaccination. Among the speakers will be Dr. F. Mason Padelford of Rail River, president of the league, Judge Clifford P. Smith of Lowell, Rev. Gardner A. Newton and Willis J. Abbot of Boston. Resolutions will be adopted demanding the legislature repeal existing vaccination laws and enact laws prohibiting the sale or use of vaccine of human origin. Miss Mildred Dilling, internationally-known harpist, will play.

BROADCAST OF FUN THROUGH LOCAL LAFS

Wife: "Where have you been so late?"

Husband: "To a lecture."

Wife: "Huh!"

Husband: "And it was very poor. I don't care to listen to another one."

Mrs. W. N. Harvey, No. 21 Neptune road, East Boston.

Teacher: "Willie, why aren't you writing?"

Willie: "I ain't got no paper."

Teacher: "Willie, where's your grammar?"

Willie: "She's dead."

By Dorothy M. Tenney, No. 199 Hesper street, Saugus, Mass.

Lady (to maid): "Justine, did you tell the dressmaker I wasn't at home?"

Maid: "I had her told, madam, that neither of us was home, as I owe her a little bill myself."

WADLEIGH QUITS GOVERNMENT JOB

Washington, Nov. 2 (I N S.)—Francis R. Wadleigh, chief of the coal division of the Dept. of Commerce and former Federal Fuel Distributor, today tendered his resignation to Secretary Hoover.

Wadleigh said it was necessary for him to return to private commercial life.

Each thinks he sees in another man's task opportunities lacking in his own.

Jefferson, the actor, died bitterly disappointed because he had not devoted his whole time to painting. And he was a very poor painter.

Richelieu, one of the greatest statesmen—he knew enough to stop dueling by punishing it with death—thought that he should have been a poet and nothing else.

He thought his poetry was not appreciated because the greatness of his name prevented its being treated on its merits. (Read on, elevator boy, we are coming to you in a minute.)

Richelieu said to Racine, a real French poet: "I think I shall write a poem and publish it signed with your name. What do you think the public will say?" The poet replied courageously: "The public will say Racine has gone crazy."

All the world thinks he ought to do something he is not doing.

And the elevator boy was no exception when he said to the editor, "I don't care much about this job. What chance is there running an elevator, anyway?"

The answer to the question answers many thousands of young men in and out of elevators.

The man who runs an elevator has this big advantage over some others. HE IS SEEN.

To be seen is to be ADVERTISED, and in this age to be advertised is to succeed—IF YOU CAN DELIVER "THE GOODS."

The man who runs the elevator IS SEEN by the big men and the little men in the building, and by the visitors who come and go.

THE ELEVATOR MAN IS SEEN BY THOSE WHO HAVE A CHANCE TO PROMOTE HIM IF THEY THINK HIM THE RIGHT KIND OF A MAN.

And in that there is a chance that millions of other men might envy.

Men working in basements, on farms, in the sweatshops, hidden away in factories, labor year long, never coming in contact with the man who might give them a hand upward.

The elevator man is seen. He has a chance, even in his limited sphere of activity, to impress upon those with whom he comes in contact the fact that he is fit to do better and more important work.

What should an elevator man do for his own sake and for the sake of future promotion?

He should stand straight and attentive at his task.

The man or boy who stands straight is saving himself for future work, keeping his lungs in the right place and his ribs in the right place. Incidentally he is impressing those who see him with the fact that he is a man of energy and, in one form at least, of CHARACTER.

The elevator man who does not talk when he should be watching his floors and preventing accidents is the man who attracts favorable attention.

The elevator man who answers briefly, politely and patiently the questions—often stupid—that are put to him is on the road to success.

The elevator boy who is as courteous with the poor woman who sells candy and apples in the building as with the attractive young lady in the flyaway hat is on the road to success—the merchant who sees him says, "There is a boy who would be polite to ALL of my customers."

The elevator man who is especially careful with the aged and the infirm, holding the car steady for them, directing them carefully, never hurrying them or being impatient, is on the road to success.

For men who are successful and able to help others are as a rule none too vigorous. They have learned to sympathize with age and weakness.

They like a boy or man whose sympathies are with the unfortunate.

The elevator man has a chance to STUDY CHARACTER.

In the world of business, as in many of the professions, KNOWLEDGE OF HUMAN CHARACTER is the great thing.

Mr. Elevator Man or Boy, keep your mind on your elevator, on your doors, on the lever in your hand; get the floor of your car level with the floor of your building; don't everlastingly say, "Step up, step down."

ATTEND TO THE ELEVATOR FIRST.

And while you are doing that watch and study the people as they come and go.

Study the tenants in your building; you will soon know which are successful and which are unsuccessful.

The successful ones are there early with a clear eye. And the unsuccessful get there a little later with an eye dull.

Ask yourself why it is that this man succeeds and that man fails.

You see the boy of seventeen smoking a cigarette, never thinking or talking of anything important. You know where he will land.

You see the old man at the top of the heap, a little quick tempered, perhaps, absent minded, but successful. Study him and see how HE managed it.

If you wanted to learn billiards you would watch a good billiard player. If you wanted to learn baseball pitching you would watch a pitcher.

If you want to learn SUCCESS study the successful.

Running an elevator you have a chance to do that.

All kinds get into your elevator, and speak to you, and all kinds notice you.

A man who has a job none too good and who wants a better one should:

Attend to that job thoroughly, doing all he can and learning all he can.

And second, keep his body and his brain in good health, so that he may be ready for the better job when it comes.

The elevator man has a chance as good as any among those that do hard work with long hours for rather small pay.

He must manage in spite of the long hours to find some time for reading.

In you there are two things that you should value.

Your stomach and your brain.

Don't starve one or the other.

Eat a good dinner, slowly, carefully.

Read a good book, slowly, carefully.

Feed your body, feed your brain, watch your passengers, take care of your elevator, be polite, stand straight, breathe deep—and you can change yourself from an elevator boy to something much more prosperous.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON THE PHILOSOPHY OF UP AND DOWN

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interests.

"If one points out from the earth, straight up in the air, and calls that up; then 12 hours later, goes through the identical process, and says that is up—then which is which?"

BOTH are which. All that "up" means, is away from the centre of gravity of the earth, toward which all things on the earth tend to move or to fall. And "down" means only toward that centre. For us on the earth and distances beyond the little to the bottom of down, but it may be an infinite number of miles to the top of up.

However, Einstein has muddled our old ideas about directions the distance is only 4,000 miles purlieus of the earth, and so, as things stand, it is best not to commit oneself as to where an unlimited journey up might lead to. But about down, we need entertain no doubt—at least, as long as we take the word in its common sense. Down stops at the centre of gravity, which, for our present purpose we may take as the geometrical centre of the earth, considered as a phere.

Centre of World.

If you were a mathematical point and placed at the centre of the earth, you would know only one direction, which would be up, and this up would be so universal and omnipresent that you could never tell which way it was. It would be every way and no way! You could not conceive of such thing as down, the idea of which would be as incomprehensible to your understanding as that of the fourth dimension is to most people's. The only way in which the direction down could be introduced into your experience would be by expanding yourself from a dimensionless mathematical point to a little sphere, whose centre corresponded in position with the centre of the earth. And then your down would be toward the middle of your stomach, which, presumably would be situated at the centre of your sphere.

Now, this is not all a farce—very far from it. If a man could reach the earth's centre he would find himself at the absolute bottom;—there would be no going any deeper. Another step in any direction would take him up. If he went straight through the centre of the earth, he would first go down 4,000 miles and then up 4,000 miles, no matter from which side he started in or on which side he came out. You could not possibly pass through the earth's centre without changing from down to up, though you always continued to travel in a straight line. Up, then, begins at the earth's centre and points every way from there.

Down is a creation of the force of gravity. If the earth had no gravitational attraction the idea of down would not exist—nor the idea of up, either, since up is only the negative of down. If a man could drop through the earth feet first, with no air or other resistance to interfere, he would no doubt, seem to himself to be continually falling, though at first with accelerated and afterward (having passed the centre) with retarded velocity; but to another man seeing him come to the earth's surface, he would not appear to be falling, but rising.

However, astronomers have when they choose to employ it, another system of up and down, which is not based on the centre of the earth. Instead of being geocentric it is heliocentric, i. e. it is referred to the centre of the sun. In this astronomical sense, "up" means away from the sun's centre, and "down" means toward the sun's centre; and this down and up are created by the solar gravitation.

In General Way.

If the earth could answer questions, and if it were asked what direction is down, it would reply: "Down there toward the sun. Can't you see for yourself what exertions I have to make to keep from falling into it? Get out of my way! If I slow up I drop."

But the earth's idea of up would correspond, in a general way, with ours, for it would be based upon the direction of the stars, on the side away from the sun. The constellations that are overhead for us at midnight are simultaneously overhead for the earth

If the sun had astronomers, they might possess a still grander system of up and down—one which we can represent to ourselves ideally. For the solar astronomers, down would be toward the distant gravitational centre. If any there be, around which the sun, accompanied by its little worlds, is making its stupendous flight through space. But about this hypothetical centre we have, as yet, no certain information.

SQUATTERS REFUSING TO MOVE

MANILA, Nov. 2.—Squatters to the number of 138 on the United States Military Reservation in Tarlac province are making a hard fight against being ousted from Uncle Sam's territory. They recently received an order to clear out, but have steadfastly refused to do so.

LIMA, Ohio, Nov. 2.—"Have no property except the clothing I wear" This statement appears in the voluntary petition in bankruptcy filed by L. W. Lederer, local machinist. Lederer said his debts aggregated $300.

Race Courses for Autos

Editor Boston American:

Here is a suggestion to Registrar Goodwin concerning his commendable efforts to stop auto racing on the highways. Let the State of Massachusetts "capitalize" it as follows:

The State hands to each holder of a driver's license a booklet explaining that he is an eligible member of the Massachusetts Motor Racing Association and may join upon the payment of yearly dues of $1.00. (If they should all join the State would have an extra $100,000 pin money.) Keeping up his yearly dues keeps a licensed driver in good standing and allows him to challenge any other member driver or car in the State to a race and upon the payment by each contestant of an entrance fee of $5 they may enter upon either the Eastern or Western State built, owned and operated race course for their protected race. One of these courses could be built on the Lynn marsh and the other in the Berkshire Hills.

The races would be started and timed by the State official having charge of the course. He would fill out and hand to each contestant at the finish a card certifying the car's ability in speed, hill climbing, brake efficiency, etc. Such a card would be a great help in selling the car second-hand at some future time. A. R. BANG.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

ORIGIN OF BLOOMERS

By Mark Stuyvesant

PERHAPS there is no unusual word that is universally used whose origin fewer people know than the word "bloomer."

And perhaps there is no garment which has given to women more freedom that the garment known as "bloomer."

"Bloomer" is remembered as it may seem, was the name of a very brilliant and for the time in which she lived a very "advanced" and daring woman.

This is her history. In Homer, New York, in the year 1818 was born Amelia Jenks Bloomer.

Amelia grew up as her girl friends did, attending school and going to parties, but Amelia was different. Amelia was a free spirit with thoughts ahead of her time.

At this time, the movement for the emancipation of women was in its infancy. Women had very few rights or privileges and it was women endowed with the type of courage of Amelia Bloomer who started the campaign which lasted nearly a century before the battle was won.

Amelia Bloomer threw her whole heart and soul into the work of trying to improve the laws so that women could, through voting, have some part in the government of their country.

As was usually the case with the pioneers of woman suffrage, Amelia Bloomer worked also for the cause of temperance. She went about the country preaching for the abstinence of all men and for national prohibition.

Not only was Amelia Bloomer in favor of these two reforms, but she was a hero in favor of freedom of dress for women.

The idea of divided skirts was originated by Mrs. Elizabeth Smith Miller, but it was Amelia Bloomer who carried out the idea, going to parties, but Amelia was different. Amelia was a free spirit with thoughts ahead of her time.

Amelia Bloomer adopted this mode of dress herself and appeared in it on her lecture tours. This greatly shocked most of the women and men of her day and caused her to be spoken of in any but complimentary terms.

If Amelia Bloomer could see today what has taken place in the country she loved and for which she worked, what pleasure would be hers!

THREE-MINUTE TRIPS

A MONGOLIAN WEDDING

By Temple Manning

IN the old days when a Mongol girl was idly wandering somewhere near her home she might suddenly have found herself swept up by a stalwart arm, deposited on a saddle in front of a man she had never seen before and carried away to become his wife.

Today, while the vast Mongolian country with its more than one and one-third million square miles of land is much the same as it was two centuries past, marriage by capture is not the rule, but many of its customs survive.

For instance, a Mongol girl of good family now knows that she is to be wed long before the day of her marriage to the man of her choice has been set by her father, but she must not let anyone know that she knows. Though she is sewing on her own wedding gown she must pretend she doesn't know for what it is to be used. Even when the provisions for the banquet to be served at her wedding are being brought into the tent—yes, even while the guests are arriving—she must act as though she did not see them.

It is only when the bridegroom rides up to her father's tent, accompanied by his men friends, every one of whom is armed, that she is permitted by custom to give the faintest sign that she understands what it is all about. As the bridegroom and all the girl's father hurries to the door and demands to be told what is wanted. A fight starts as the bridegroom and his friends try to force their way in. Great care is taken that no one is hurt, but thus are old customs preserved.

Off she rides with her hands hiding her face—though smiles may wreathe it—to the tent of her bridegroom. Hereafter this will be her home, though it is moved all over the great Mongolian plain following the flocks and herds of her husband.

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

To Master Charles

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you print this letter, as perhaps if others realize this boy's (Master Charles) need of shoes, they will help by sending him money that he may be able to get a pair of shoes and stockings for cold weather? Enclosed please find two dollars to start the amount needed. K. C. D.

Thanks to your very kind contribution, and others that were sent in like yours without any prodding, Master Charles will have new shoes and stockings for the Winter, instead of having his toes poking out of both. Many thanks. The contributions have been forwarded, and you have been sent his address

A Generous List

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a white skirt, size 32, a petticoat, middy blouse, black skirt and three shirtwaists, all size 38; two pairs of shoes, sizes 4½ and 5½, for some woman. For a man I have some shirts, size 15½, and soft collars, an undershirt, slipon sweater. I also have a coat sweater for a woman size 40. MISS H. P.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. H. for the woman's clothing, and she has been asked to call, as you suggest. We will hold your offer of men's clothing for replies.

Two Dollars for Mary C

Editor Helping Hand:

Enclosed please find two dollars for Mary C., the thirteen-year-old girl, who applied for aid in the issue of the nineteenth. Will you please see that she gets this little mite.

LOWELL, MASS.

Many thanks. The two dollars was forwarded to her and she is very grateful, indeed, to her unknown benefactor. We are late in acknowledging this, as we are several other gifts, because of the many urgent letters which must be published.

$1 for Mrs. M. G.

Editor Helping Hand:

Enclosed find one dolar for Mrs. M. G. I did not receive her address. MRS. H. H. S.

Many thanks. The dollar has been forwarded, and her address has been sent you. The money will help a lot.

Clothes For 1-Year-Old

Editor Helping Hand.

Kindly send me the address of some mother with a child about a year old. I have been going through my child's trunk and found many things she has outgrown that no doubt some mother would be glad to get. They include rompers, pantydresses, two coats, four pairs of shoes, and underwear, etc., for a child between one and two.

MRS. F. A. G.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. M. S. who will be very grateful for these things.

Dresses and Coats

Editor Helping Hand:

I have several dresses and three coats between the sizes of 38 and 40. I have packed them up and am holding them for an address to send them to. I notice every evening in your paper that there are so many people in need of clothes and would appreciate it very much if you would send me the addresses of one or more needy people. R. M. O.

Thank you. You have been sent the addresses of Mrs. J. C. and Mrs. M. M. C., who both wear the size you mention, and who will appreciate clothing.

Clothes For Mrs. M. D.

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me the address of some needy fifteen-year-old girl. I have two or three dresses and a coat. Also a mackinaw for a boy about eleven. A. R.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. D. who has a large family in need of clothes.

Needs Overcoat

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband met with a very serious accident two and a half years ago when he broke his leg. He is unable to work. My father lived with us, and he helped us until March 16, when he died. Now it is very hard for me to get along. I am working every day in a jewelry shop and I take work home to do every night. We are living in a light housekeeping room, trying to keep my husband in things he needs. It is very hard, and I wish someone could give him a suit of clothes and an overcoat size 40 or 42. I do not need clothes myself so much, as I make my own; but I would be very grateful for an overcoat, size 36 or 38, as mine is seven years old. MRS. G. H. B.

Hospital Needs Phonograph

Editor Helping Hand:

If one of your readers has a phonograph that they are tired of, we could make good use of it trying to cheer up the patients in a State institution where music is a scarce article, as anyone who has been in a State hospital knows. C. K. J.

Other Offers

The editor wishes to express his sincere thanks to the following people for their generous offers of assistance to those in need. They have been sent the addresses requested.

BUT, When the Rich Widow Was Called a "Circe"! —

There Was a Hurried Peep Into the Mysteries of Mythology, and the Fair Lady Who Had Played the Saintly Esther Refused to Be Cast for the Enchantress Who Turned Men Into Swine

Mrs. Frank W. Zeiss, Jr., Who, in Suing Mrs. Wiggins for the Alleged Alienation of Her Husband's Affections, Valued His Love at $250,000.

"Circe." From the Famous Painting by Emile Levy.

Mrs. Dorothy Wiggins, the Wealthy Widow Named in the Zeiss Suit, Attired as Queen Esther at a Society Event.

SUPPOSE you were a wealthy and attractive Philadelphia widow, with an amiability — usually — as broad as your bank-account, and a social status hitherto unchallengeable——

And imagine that one of your late husband's most chummy masculine cronies called several times to see you, with "business" as the theme of the meetings —or even as the "pretext," to quote "the papers" filed in the case——

And then fancy—if your fancy is so elastic—that his wife filed a rapid-fire alienation-of-affections suit against you for the puny sum of $250,000, claimed you "admitted the truth," and, into the bargain, you saw a published allegation she had compared you to that naughty vampire, Circe——

Just WHAT would your feelings be THEN? They might suggest a coat-of-arms, with rage rampant on a red field of fury incarnate. But they would have very little "on" those of Mrs. Dorothy Fettit Wiggins, who went through such a "harrowing, hideous, horrible, harassing" experience.

Those adjectives, sniff Mrs. Wiggins' friends, are amply warranted. For, they ask testily, did not Mrs. Frank W. Zeiss, Jr., according to a press dispatch from Philadelphia to the world at large, make the Circe reference? And did not Mrs. Wiggins promptly "burn up" under it—and over it?

Whatever the outcome of Mrs. Zeiss' suit, entered, she says, to retain her jovial, popular husband's love, scarcely anyone could blame Mrs. Wiggins for disdaining the thought of herself in the role of the Greek siren. The latter was a most unpleasant, though comely, person. So said Homer and the later poets, who chronicled the gay "goings on" in the Athens smart set and its suburbs.

Unlike Andromeda, who, chained to a sheer crag, would have been the original movie "stunt girl" if the movies had been invented then; unlike Iphigenia, who gave her life for her country; unlike other spotless and seraphic heroines of Hellenic history, Circe was a selfish and cruel beauty. It was her proud boast that she could subdue and enslave any man who came within battery-range of her sparkling orbs. And, adds Homer, she usually succeeded.

There were, however, exceptions to her rule. And when the prospective victim balked and baffled her intention, Circe became very wrathy, and life was not pleasant around her palace for the servants.

Many accounts, based on folk song and story, have been handed down about the Greek charmer and her wiles. Here, for instance, is a fairly terse, but pithily unpleasant, summary of Circe's activities, antecedents and ambitions:

"The fabled and exquisite enchantress was the daughter of Perse and of Helios, an ancient Greek sun deity. She lived on the Island of Aeaea, where she kept a most remarkable establishment.

"Her particular delight was to entrap passing voyagers; to dine and wine them at her sumptuous palace, whence ravishing music and all manner of delectable viands delighted the guests and then, by a magical process unknown to others, to turn them into—swine!

"It was in such fashion that the great Greek warrior and hero, Odysseus (Ulysses) nearly came to grief. He and his companions, returning from the 10-year siege of Troy, went ashore at Aeaea and were hospitably—too hospitably—received. The lovely Lady of the Sty greeted them with regal warmth and touching concern for their hunger, thirst and weariness.

"Circe tried to work her enchantment upon Odysseus, but she fell far short of her aim. Wily and guileful himself, he refused to become entangled in her blandishments, for he had eaten of an herb, before he visited her palace, which rendered him immune to her fascination.

"Circe, enraged, transformed many of his companions into grunting, mud-coated pigs. But Odysseus sailed away to his home and the faithful wife, Penelope, who awaited him, with mocking laughter on his lips."

Now, having heard the Homeric Legend let your imagination waft you forward through the years till you reach the present day. And consider the three interesting principals in the Philadelphia alienation-of-affections suit.

No. 1. Mrs. Wiggins, herself, widow of J. Abbott Wiggins, son of John Wiggins, well-known contractor, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fettit.

No. 2. Mrs. Lynda Mull Zeiss, daughter of J. H. Mull, president of the Cramp Shipbuilding Company and a graduate of the Friends' Central School, whose wedding in 1920 was a fashionable event, followed by a reception at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

No. 3. Frank W. Zeiss, Jr., member of the swagger Second City Troop, the Union League and other prominent Philadelphia organizations, "red-haired, companionable, and full of innocent fun," according to those who know him.

None of the trio is inclined to talk much about the heart-balm suit, but the bill of particulars included in the affidavit carries forward the plot of the piece with amazing impetus, color and drama.

Here are some excerpts from it, in all their bald, mechanical phraseology, yet bearing significantly on Mrs. Zeiss' contention that Mrs. Wiggins, "contriving to injure the plaintiff, wrongfully and maliciously enticed Mr. Zeiss away from the plaintiff and caused an alienation of the affections of him from the plaintiff to herself":

"That the efforts to alienate the affections of Mr. Zeiss began about eighteen months ago and have continued ever since; that frequently the defendant would entice Mr. Zeiss to go horseback riding with her in out-of-the-way places; that frequently she would entice him to play golf with her . . .; during this period she frequently gave him presents, including a gold pen-knife and a gold necktie-clasp . . .; that at all these meetings there was undue intimacy between the defendant and Frank W. Zeiss, Jr., especially when she enticed him to her house under the pretext of business.

"On September 1 last the plaintiff called the defendant by 'phone and told her she had heard she was, by her wiles and wrongful and malicious advances, causing the plaintiff's husband to lose his affections for her. . . .

"The plaintiff did go to the home of the defendant and did accuse her of taking away her husband by her wiles and blandishments, and the defendant admitted the truth of the allegations, and said that she did bring the plaintiff's husband out to her house . . . under the pretext of talking business.

"That as a result of the actions of the defendant, the plaintiff's name and happiness have been destroyed by the wrongful and malicious acts of the defendant; the plaintiff has suffered a great nervous shock and mental and bodily ills, and has been rendered very unhappy."

And then follows the claim for damages of $250,000. The suit was entered in Court of Common Pleas No. 4.

"I have nothing to say," says Mr. Zeiss.

"I have nothing more to say," says Mrs. Wiggins.

But Mrs. Zeiss is not so taciturn. "Frank has never been away from home one night that I can remember until that awful day, September 1," she told reporters. "I was stunned. I had met Mrs. Wiggins several times, but had never been a personal friend. My husband and her husband were great friends down at the armory—they were members of the Second City Troop—and in this way I had met her, but never really paid much attention to her.

"A divorce? I shall not sue, and he has no grounds, so there cannot possibly be one," concluded Mrs. Zeiss. All of which is far, far different from conditions in Homer's day, when husbands and wives never thought of separation, and when Reno was not even a delicious dream to the wearily-wedded.

WHERE KAT'S GOING WITH THAT BREAD
I'M GONNA CAST IT IN THE RIVER
WHY
SO THAT IT WILL COME BACK TO ME A HUNDRED FOLD
AND SUPPOSE IT DOESN'T
WELL SUPPOSE IT DIDN'T NOT THEN YOU'LL BE OUT A PERFECTLY GOOD LOAF OF BREAD
NO I WON'T
I GOT MY RETURN ADDRESS ON IT
ONE WAY BRICK-Y'ARED AN COME BACK

Medbury Says

By John P. Medbury

THIS is the time of the year when the United States Treasury sends its soiled currency out to be laundered.

FROM now on, most of the money you get from the bank will be newly sponged and pressed.

WHEN the government gave notice that they were going to start laundering their dough, several housewives applied for the job of wash-woman.

ANY dame would be glad to do Uncle Sam's scrubbing, provided she could take it home.

CAN you imagine how beautiful her back yard would look with three or four hundred thousand dollars hanging on the clothesline.

SHE wouldn't have any trouble getting the neighbors to help her do the ironing.

OF course, when you wash for the government you have to be careful. They don't want their green-backs returned full of blueing.

AND no cashier would want a fifty-dollar bill so starchy that it would break in his pocket.

THE average laundry does darning for nothing, but Uncle Sam doesn't care about having buttons sewed on his currency.

ALL dough should be washed at least once a year, but there's just as much fun in washing a soiled bill as there is in using a clean one.

AND, besides, most of us don't have money in our hands long enough to get it dirty.

KEEP YOUNG BY HAVING YOUNG THOUGHTS.

Of course it is regrettable that one must grow old, but why worry over it?

Why look forward to a certain age, when, if you are like some persons, you will be crippled up with rheumatism, or have some other ailment to incapacitate you?

You may not be at all like any of these whom you have pictured.

You may be the exception to the rule.

You may never reach that age ahead which you know consider as the age of senile decay.

Stop worrying about a time which may never be reached.

Don't try to convince yourself that the time is coming when you will be considered only as "around in the way."

Keep young by having young thoughts.

Keep fit by taking proper care of yourself.

Take an interest in today not in by-gone days.

Be hopeful, prayerful and optimistic.

While listening to the explanation of my music teacher one day, the screws of the piano stool upon which I was seated gave out, throwing me backward to the floor, stool and all, much to my embarrassment and the amusement of the teacher.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Best Joke," Boston American.

A case came to court involving the ownership of an eight-day clock. After listening to both sides, the judge turned to the plaintiff and said, "You get the clock."

"And what do I get?" complained the defendant.

"You get the eight days," replied the judge.

Little Manny, not quite two years old, while visiting the Franklin Park birdhouse, saw among the birds a large black one with a bright red bill, making a striking colored contrast. Perceiving the vivid color contrast, he exclaimed: "Oh, papa, see the bird suck lollypop!"
